INTRODUCTION

This handbook, intended primarily for foreigners, describes the broad outlines of the French tax system. First, let us consider two questions: the place of taxation within the system of all mandatory levies, and the place of taxation in French law.

I – TAXATION IN RELATION TO OTHER MANDATORY LEVIES

Mandatory levies include taxes, fees for services rendered, customs duties and social security contributions.

Taxes are payments imposed on individuals and legal entities according to their ability to pay without any specific consideration in return in order to cover public spending and achieve the economic and social objectives set by the government.

Fees for services rendered, payable for the use of certain public services or for the right to use them, are also mandatory levies but are not strictly speaking taxes since they entitle the payer to a consideration in return.

Customs duties are distinguished from taxes by their economic purpose, namely to protect the domestic market.

Social security contributions, though mandatory, are not taxes since they are levied for a specific purpose, namely social protection, and benefits are paid in return.

II - TAXATION IN FRENCH LAW

The need for taxation is asserted in Article 13 of the 1789 Declaration of the Rights of Man and of the Citizen: "For the maintenance of the public force, and for administrative expenses, a general tax is indispensable [...]", adding that "it must be equally distributed among all citizens, in proportion to their ability to pay". Article 14 of the Declaration states that "All citizens have the right to ascertain, by themselves or through their representatives, the need for a public tax, to consent to it freely, to watch over its use, and to determine its proportion, basis, collection and duration."

Unlike other mandatory levies, taxes may be assessed and collected only by virtue of an act of the legislature, i.e. Parliament.

This principle is enshrined in Article 34 of the French Constitution, according to which rules concerning the basis, rates and methods of collection of taxes of all types are set by statute. The executive is therefore involved only in implementing the tax rules defined by Parliament, stipulating the terms and conditions of their application under the control of the tax courts.

Consequently, the tax administration interprets and comments on provisions of law in circulars that may neither add to nor subtract from the law. Otherwise the circular is unlawful and may be nullified by the Council of State (Conseil d'Etat) on an appeal from taxpayers. If that is the case, the unlawful circular is not binding on taxpayers. Conversely, the administration may not argue that a circular was unlawful against a taxpayer who has applied it. This guarantee also applies where the administration has issued a formal ruling on the assessment of a given situation with regard to a tax rule. Thus, tax law provides that where a taxpayer has applied a tax rule according to the interpretation given by the administration through published instructions or circulars and not retracted at the date of the relevant operations, the administration may not order additional payments on the grounds of some other interpretation.

In addition, under Article 53 of the Constitution, treaties that impact on State finances or modify provisions which are matters for statute may be ratified or approved only by virtue of an Act of Parliament. Article 55 of the Constitution states that duly ratified or approved treaties or agreements prevail, upon publication, over Acts of Parliament, provided that the other party has applied the treaty or agreement concerned. This means that domestic tax law is subordinate to provisions of international treaties or agreements. Under Article 54 of the Constitution, if the Constitutional Council has declared that an international commitment contains a clause contrary to the Constitution, authorisation to ratify or approve it may be given only after the Constitution has been amended.

This handbook describes the main taxes levied in France, distinguishing four categories:

- taxes on income;
- taxes on expenditure;
- taxes on assets;
- local taxes.

This handbook merely describes the rules laid down in domestic French law. More detailed information may be found on the portal of the Ministry for the Budget, Public Accounts and the Civil Service (<http://www.impots.gouv.fr>), which has been designed to allow non-residents to obtain information that concerns them.

Administrative doctrine laid down in official tax bulletins (bulletins officiels des impôts, BOI) may be obtained from SDNC, 82, rue du Maréchal Lyautey – BP 3045 – 78103 Saint Germain-en-Laye Cedex. Tax bulletins are also available (in French) on the Ministry website (http://www.impots.gouv.fr/portal/dgi/public/documentation.impot;jsessionid=HUUCL52UVH4JTQFIEI PSFEY?espld=-1&pageld=docu_textes&sfid=420).

Bilateral tax treaties for the avoidance of double taxation between France and other countries may depart from these rules, which apply only subject to the provisions of such treaties.

A list of tax treaties is appended.

The text of the treaties may be obtained from the Direction de l'information légale et administrative, 26, rue Desaix, 75727 Paris Cedex 15 or consulted on the Ministry website (http://www.impots.gouv.fr/portal/dgi/public/documentation.impot;jsessionid=APGDQUGTIJM45QFIEI PSFFA?espld=-1&pageld=docu_international&sfid=440).

PART I: TAXES ON INCOME

There are four categories of taxes on income in France:

- corporation tax (impôt sur les sociétés, IS);
- personal income tax (impôt sur le revenu, IR);
- social levies;
- payroll taxes.

CHAPTER 1: CORPORATION TAX

Corporation tax is a tax, in principle payable annually, on all profits generated in France by companies and other legal entities. It concerns about a third of French companies. Legal entities may be liable to corporation tax:

- either at the standard rate of 33⅓% for all their activities;
- or at the following reduced rates:
 - 15% for the first €38,120 of taxable profit of companies with turnover excluding VAT of less than €7,630,000 in the tax year or tax period, reduced where relevant to twelve months. The company's capital must be fully paid-up and at least 75% must be held continuously by individuals or by a company meeting the same conditions (turnover, paying-up and holding capital). For the parent company of a group as stipulated in Article 223 A of the French General Tax Code (Code Général des Impôts, CGI), turnover is the sum of the turnover of each company in the group;
 - 0% for long-term capital gains resulting from the disposal of participating interests;
 - 0% or 15% for long-term capital gains resulting from the disposal of units in venture-capital investment funds and shares in venture-capital companies;
 - 15% for income from granting licences to use patents, patentable inventions or developments thereto, or for certain industrial manufacturing processes and capital gains from the disposal of such elements;
 - 19% for long-term capital gains resulting from the sale of securities of listed companies investing predominantly in real property (sociétés à prépondérance immobilière, SPI);
 - 19% for net capital gains booked on:
 - the contribution or transfer before 1 January 2012 of properties, certain similar rights and securities of SPIs, under certain conditions, to listed property investment companies (sociétés d'investissement immobilier), variable-capital companies investing predominantly in real property (sociétés de placement à prépondérance immobilière à capital variable, SPPICAV) or their affiliates and, under certain conditions, for the benefit of a leasing company which immediately grants enjoyment of the acquired property assets to one of the aforementioned property companies;
 - the transfer before 1 January 2012 of developed or non-developed properties and securities of SPIs to organisations responsible for low-rental housing;
 - 24%, 15% or 10% for the income from assets received by non-profit organisations.

In addition, corporation tax payers are liable to a social contribution equal to 3.3% of the tax assessed on their taxable profits at the standard rate (33⅓%) and at the reduced rates, minus relief that may not exceed €763,000 per twelve-month period.

Companies with turnover of less than €7,630,000, at least 75% of whose fully paid-up capital is held continuously by individuals or by a company meeting the same conditions (turnover, paying up and holding capital) are exempt from this contribution.

Finally, legal entities liable to corporation tax are subject to an annual flat-rate tax (imposition forfaitaire annuelle, IFA), assessed on a progressive scale according to turnover excluding VAT plus financial income.

The tax is being phased out over five years as follows:

- On 1 January 2009, the amount of turnover (plus financial income) as of which legal entities liable to corporation tax are subject to the annual flat-rate tax was raised from €400,000 to €1,500,000.
- On 1 January 2010, the threshold for liability to the tax was raised to €15,000,000;
- The tax will be totally abolished for all businesses as of 1 January 2014.

Corporation tax yielded €20.91 billion in 2009 and is expected to yield €44.25 billion in 2011.

I – SCOPE OF CORPORATION TAX

A. TAXABLE ENTITIES

1 – Corporation tax at the standard rate (Article 206-1 CGI)

Certain legal entities are liable to corporation tax on account of their legal form. They include, whatever their corporate purpose, joint-stock (sociétés anonymes, SA) and simplified joint-stock companies (sociétés par actions simplifiées, SAS), limited liability companies (sociétés à responsabilité limitée, SARL), partnerships limited by shares (sociétés en commandite par actions, SCA) and, in certain cases, cooperative societies. In some cases, certain corporations (sociétés de capitaux) may elect to be subject to the regime for partnerships (family-owned SARL and small SA, SARL or SAS, formed less than five years ago).

Other legal entities are liable to corporation tax according to their type of business, such as civil-law or non-trading companies that carry on industrial or commercial activities and more generally legal entities that operate a business or carry out operations for profit.

In addition, partnerships and similar groups, whose partners normally include their share of profits of the corporation or group in their personal taxable income, may in certain cases opt for liability to corporation tax.

Finally, limited liability sole proprietorships (entreprises individuelles à responsabilité limitée, EIRL), subject to an actual assessment regime, may opt to pay corporation tax.

2 – Corporation tax at reduced rates (Article 206-5 CGI)

Public bodies like public establishments and private bodies like associations and foundations are not liable to standard-rate ordinary law corporation tax provided that they do not conduct business for profit.

Under special rules, such bodies are liable to corporation tax on certain income they derive from their assets (income from real property, agricultural profits, certain investment income), which is not related to business for profit. The applicable rate is 24%, 15% or 10% for certain investment income, such as income from bonds.

Public establishments, financially independent State bodies, local government bodies at département and commune level and all other legal entities that operate a business or carry out operations for profit are liable to corporation tax under ordinary law conditions.

However, a body that does not carry on business for profit but receives income from its assets is liable to corporation tax at the reduced rates stipulated by Article 206-5 CGI unless otherwise provided (for example, scientific or educational public establishments, public establishments providing assistance, public interest foundations and endowment funds whose articles of association do not provide for the possibility of consuming their endowment in capital are not liable).

In addition, under Article 207-1-6 CGI, regions and entities formed between regions, départements and entities formed between départements, communes, public establishments for intercommunal cooperation (EPCI) with powers of taxation, syndicates of communes and joint syndicates made up exclusively of local authorities or local authority groupings and their public service agencies, where the latter's purpose is to operate or provide a service essential to the collective needs of the local authority's inhabitants, are entirely exempt from corporation tax.

Companies established in certain economically and socially disadvantaged parts of the country, such as Corsica, small business investment support zones (zones PME), regional assistance zones (ZAFR), rural revitalisation zones (ZRR), priority urban development zones (ZUS), urban renewal zones (ZRU), urban free zones (ZFU), employment revitalisation zones (BER), defence restructuring zones (ZRD), and in clusters are granted temporary exemptions under certain conditions.

3 - Tax consolidation (Articles 223 A to 223 Q CGI)

Under an optional tax consolidation regime, a French parent company can include the income of French affiliates of which it controls at least 95% of the capital in its taxable income. In that case the parent company pays the corporation tax for all the companies in the group. For financial years as from 31 December 2009, groups in which the parent company owns at least 95% of a French affiliate through one or more companies based in the European Union, Iceland or Norway may also opt for this tax regime. Finally, this tax consolidation regime is also available, under certain conditions, to some mutual insurance companies and mutual banking groups.

B. TERRITORIALITY

All EU countries except France tax worldwide profits. In France, however, only profits made by enterprises operated in France are liable to corporation tax, whatever their nationality. This means that profits made by a French company in enterprises operated in countries other than France are not liable to French corporation tax; likewise, a foreign company is liable to French corporation tax only on the profit made from enterprises it operates in France.

Consequently, companies liable to tax in France may not deduct losses made by enterprises they operate in other countries from their taxable profit.

The term "enterprise operated in France" means an enterprise which carries on a regular business in France, whether in an autonomous establishment or, if there is no establishment, through representatives without independent professional status, or as part of operations forming a complete business cycle.

By way of an exception to the territorial rule, the Minister for the Economy may authorise some French companies to apply the consolidated profits regime. For corporation tax purposes such companies must include, in addition to their own profits or those of the tax group they have formed, the profits of all their directly operated enterprises abroad and their share of the profits of their French affiliates (or the tax group they have formed) and foreign affiliates of which they hold at least 50% of the voting rights.

II – DETERMINING TAXABLE INCOME

A. GENERAL RULES FOR DETERMINING PROFITS

In the same way as enterprises liable to income tax in the category of business profits (bénéfices industriels et commerciaux), and in principle unlike non-commercial enterprises liable to income tax in the category of non-commercial profits (bénéfices non commerciaux), companies liable to corporation tax must include all existing receivables and liabilities at the end of a period in the calculation of their taxable profit.

Profit liable to corporation tax is determined according to the same general rules as for the taxation of enterprises liable to income tax in the category of business profits, except for the territorial profit taxation rule, which applies only to enterprises liable to corporation tax.

Profit liable to corporation tax is determined according to the results of operations of all types carried out by the enterprise, including disposals of assets. The tax base therefore broadly corresponds to the difference between net balance sheet assets at the start and end of the period, minus contributions, plus withdrawals made by members or shareholders during the period.

In principle the taxable profit corresponds to the book profit, but the latter is adjusted to take account of tax rules that depart from accounting rules.

B. CALCULATING THE TAXABLE PROFIT

The taxable profit is equal to the difference between the gross operating profit and incidental income, on the one hand, and deductible costs and expenses, on the other hand.

Under accounting rules, the gross operating profit is the difference between:

- sales and services during the period plus the inventory at the end of the period, and
- the cost of sales and services plus the inventory at the start of the period.

In addition to the gross operating profit, all incidental income or profit generated by an enterprise is in principle taxable. These items include income from the letting of property, interest on receivables, deposits and guarantees and investment income.

As a departure from French parent companies may exclude dividends distributed by their French or foreign affiliates of which they hold at least 5% of the share capital from their taxable profit, with the exception of a portion of costs and expenses equal to 5% of the total amount of income from participating interests, foreign tax credits included.

Costs and expenses may be deducted under the following conditions:

- they must be incurred in the direct interest of the business or be connected with the normal management of the enterprise;
- they must correspond to an actual expense and be sufficiently substantiated;
- they must be included in the expenses of the period during which they were incurred and reflect a decrease in the enterprise's net assets;
- their deductibility must not be called into question by a particular provision of law. Certain expenses are not deductible where they do not correspond to the enterprise's purpose, such as expenses related to hunting or fishing and expenses incurred in providing yachts or leisure craft (expenses classed as luxuries).

At the same time, long-term capital gains are taxed separately at the reduced rates of 0%, 15% or 19%, in some cases increased by the contribution referred to above (Introduction, Chapter 1).

Thus, for periods starting in 2011:

- Long-term capital gains taxable at 0% are, under certain conditions, those arising from the disposal of participating interests (not including securities of SPIs) held for at least two years or, within certain limits, units or shares in certain venture-capital investment funds or venture-capital companies held for at least five years. Long-term capital gains on the disposal of participating interests are exempt after deduction of a 5% portion of costs and expenses.
- Long-term capital gains taxed at 15% are the net profits from granting licences to use patents, patentable inventions or developments thereto, or for certain industrial manufacturing processes and capital gains from the disposal of such elements.
- Long-term capital gains taxed at 19% are those resulting from the disposal of the securities of listed SPIs.
- Other capital gains are taxed as ordinary profit at the standard rate (see page 11), subject to the exemption under certain conditions of capital gains from the disposal of an entire branch of activity and the taxation at 19% of net capital gains realised on the sale of properties, certain similar rights and securities of SPIs, under certain conditions, to organisations responsible for low-rental housing, listed property investment companies, variable-capital SPIs or their affiliates, and leasing companies when they immediately grant enjoyment of the acquired property assets to one of the aforementioned property companies.
- For periods starting as from 1 January 2011, the long-term capital gains and losses regime no longer applies to the capital gains or losses resulting from the disposal of the securities of companies based in a non-cooperative country or territory;
- Capital losses from the transfer of participating interests to a related company are still covered by the long-term regime, even if they have been held for less than two years; as an option, the capital gains resulting from the transfer of participating interests held for less than two years to a related company may be covered by the long-term regime.

The result of these adjustments may show:

- either a profit, on which corporation tax is assessed;
- or a loss, which may be set off for an unlimited time against the profit of periods following the period in which the loss was booked or, optionally and under certain conditions, carried back against the profit of the preceding three periods, in which case it will generate a credit chargeable against tax in the following five years and refundable at the end of the five-year period.

III - ASSESSMENT AND PAYMENT OF THE TAX

Companies calculate and pay tax voluntarily in instalments, an adjustment being made when the final results of the period have been established.

Any tax credits relating to foreign investment income included in the tax base are deducted from the gross tax. These tax credits correspond to the withholding tax on such income.

 By way of an exception to the rules described above, a "tax consolidation" regime exists whereby the parent company of a French tax group may, under certain conditions, pay all the corporation tax owed by the entire group formed by the parent and its affiliates (see Chapter 1, I, A, Section 3 above).

CHAPTER 2: PERSONAL INCOME TAX

Personal income tax is in principle a comprehensive tax levied on an individual's total income in a given year. Unless otherwise provided, all income, regardless of origin, is aggregated to give an overall net income to which a single tax scale is applied.

The scale has progressive income bands. However, there are many provisions in the method for calculating income tax that allow taxation to be adjusted to personal circumstances. Proportional levies are also applied to some types of income and capital gains on the disposal of transferable securities or real property.

Personal income tax is assessed annually on a tax household's taxable income in a given calendar year, declared the following year.

Personal income tax yielded €46.66 billion in 2009 and is expected to yield €52.11 billion in 2011.

I – TAXABLE INCOME

The following seven categories of income¹ are liable to personal income tax:

- business profits;
- non-commercial profits;
- agricultural profits;
- income from real property;
- wages, salaries, pensions and annuities;
- investment income;
- capital gains.

II - SCOPE OF PERSONAL INCOME TAX

A. TAXABLE PERSONS

Under Article 4 A CGI, individuals domiciled in France are taxable on all their income of French or foreign origin. Persons not domiciled in France are taxable only on their income from French sources.

¹ There is an eighth category, comprising the remuneration of certain company heads (especially majority managers of limited liability companies), the tax rules for which are similar to those for wages and salaries. For the purposes of this handbook, it is therefore included in the category covering wages, salaries, pensions and annuities.

1 – Domicile for tax purposes – Tax household rule

Under Article 4 B CGI, persons are deemed to be domiciled in France for tax purposes if:

- their home is in France;
- their main place of abode is in France;
- they carry on a professional activity in France, salaried or not, unless they can prove that it is a secondary activity;
- they have the centre of their economic interests in France.

State employees who perform their duties or are on assignment in a foreign country and are not liable to personal tax on their overall income in that country are also deemed to be domiciled in France for tax purposes.

Personal income tax is assessed on the basis of the "tax household", i.e. the family entity consisting of a single person, two partners who have concluded a civil solidarity pact or spouses, whatever their marital property regime, and their children or other dependents. The tax base therefore generally comprises the total income of the various members of the tax household.

2 – Tax treatment of persons domiciled in France

Regardless of their nationality, persons domiciled in France for tax purposes are taxable on their worldwide income.

3 – Tax treatment of persons not domiciled in France

Subject to the provisions of tax treaties for the avoidance of double taxation, regardless of their nationality, persons not domiciled in France are taxable in France on their income from French sources only. Under Article 164 B CGI, only the following are deemed income from French sources:

- income from real property situated in France or from rights relating to such property;
- income from French transferable securities and all other securities invested in France;
- income from business concerns situated in France;
- income from professional activities, salaried or not, or from for-profit operations carried on in France;
- capital gains on the transfer for valuable consideration of real property or rights of all kinds and profits derived from transactions carried out in particular by property dealers, where they relate to businesses operated in France and to properties situated in France, property rights relating to them or shares in unlisted companies whose assets mainly consist of such property and rights;
- capital gains on the transfer of shares in companies having their registered office in France;
- amounts, including salaries, in consideration of artistic or sporting performances given or used in France.

Under Article 164 B CGI aforesaid, the following are also deemed income from French sources where the payer of the income has his tax domicile or is established in France:

- pensions and annuities;
- income received by inventors or in respect of copyright and all income derived from industrial or commercial property and similar rights;
- amounts paid in consideration of services of any kind rendered or used in France.

Under Article 164 C CGI, the income tax payable by persons not domiciled in France is assessed on a notional income equal to three times the real rental value of their dwelling(s) in France where they have no income from French sources or where such income is less than the notional assessment base². However, the notional assessment does not apply, for the year in which the tax domicile is transferred outside France and the following two years, to taxpayers of French nationality who can prove that the transfer is made for imperative professional reasons and that their tax domicile was continuously situated in France for the four years before the transfer.

The notional assessment also does not apply:

- to persons of French or foreign nationality domiciled in a State or territory that has concluded a treaty with France intended to avoid double taxation, even if the treaty does not contain any provision in that respect;
- to persons of French nationality, where they can prove that they are liable, in the country or territory where they have their tax domicile, to personal taxation on their total income at least equal to two-thirds the tax they would have to pay in France on the same tax base;
- to nationals of countries that have concluded a reciprocal agreement with France who meet the condition stated in the preceding paragraph.

Taxpayers domiciled outside France who receive income from French sources or have one or more dwellings in France must in principle file a tax return.

B. EXEMPT PERSONS

Exemptions are essentially granted for social reasons and relate to:

- taxpayers with low income: individuals whose income net of professional expenses does not exceed €8,440 or €9,220 if they are aged over 65 on 31 December 2010;
- salaried employees, pension recipients and annuity recipients whose income is less than the guaranteed minimum provided for by Article L. 3231-12 of the French Labour Code (code du travail): individuals receiving wages, salaries, pensions and annuities whose total income did not exceed €6,885 for 2010.

This second exemption may not be combined with the first.

Under the 1961 and 1963 Vienna Conventions on Diplomatic and Consular Relations, diplomatic and consular staff of foreign nationality are exempt from personal income tax on their official remuneration and their income from foreign sources.

² To make the comparison, this income includes income subject to a withholding or levy.

III - TAXATION OF INCOME RECEIVED BY INDIVIDUALS

A. PERSONS DOMICILED IN FRANCE

1 – Business profits

Business profits include profits from industrial, commercial and craft activities, from certain activities taxed in that category by law (such as profits made by property dealers) and, under certain conditions, from secondary activities.

The rules for determining the tax base are in principle identical to those that apply to corporation tax. However, the territorial rule for corporation tax does not apply to profits of enterprises liable to personal income tax.

Determined from the book profit, the taxable profit therefore corresponds to the result of all operations of any kind performed by the enterprise, subject to other adjustments under tax law. However, small businesses may opt for a simplified regime that reduces their accounting obligations, and very small businesses³ are generally taxed, unless they opt for actual assessment, on a notional profit equal to a percentage of their turnover (29% of sales of goods and housing provision, not including furnished rentals, and 50% of sales of services).

Taxpayers with a very small business may also opt, under certain conditions, to make a social security and tax payment in discharge of tax on a notional basis. If they do so, they pay social security contributions and income tax on the activity on a monthly or quarterly basis by applying a 13%⁴ rate to sales of goods or a 23% rate to sales of services⁵ in the previous period.

If businesses subject to actual assessment in that category do not belong to an approved small business management centre, their taxable profits are increased by 25%⁶.

2 – Non-commercial profits

Non-commercial profits include the profits of the professions and of offices and practices whose holder does not have trader status, and the profits of all occupations, for-profit concerns and sources of profit not falling within any other category of profits or income (regular stock market trading, copyright, income received by inventors, etc.).

Taxpayers taxed on an actual assessment basis, called the "controlled return" (déclaration contrôlée) regime (i.e. having annual revenue in excess of €32,600 excluding VAT), must fulfil certain accounting obligations. They are required to keep a ledger itemising their business revenues and expenditures and a record of fixed assets and depreciation.

³ Enterprises whose annual turnover for 2011 does not exceed €81,500 excluding VAT for sales of goods or housing provision, not including furnished rentals, or €32,600 excluding VAT for sales of services.

⁵ 21.3% for social security contributions and 1.7% for income tax.

Unlike business profits and profits liable to corporation tax, taxable non-commercial profits are equal, in principle, to the difference between revenues actually received and expenditures (including depreciation) necessary for the practice of the profession that have been paid and are justified.

Persons taxed on their non-commercial profits under the notional assessment system, called "micro-BNC" (i.e. with annual revenue less than or equal to €32,600 excluding VAT) are required only to keep an accounting record of their revenues. Under this regime, the taxable profit is equal to 66% of revenues. Such taxpayers may opt, under certain conditions, to make a monthly or quarterly social security and tax payment in discharge of tax on a notional basis. In that case, taxpayers in the social security scheme for the self-employed (régime social des indépendants, RSI) apply a 23.5%⁷ rate to the amount of their revenue in the preceding period, while taxpayers in the CIPAV (Caisse interprofessionnelle de prévoyance et d'assurance vieillesse) pension fund scheme apply a 20.5%⁸ rate.

Under an actual assessment regime, taxable profits are increased by 25% unless the taxpayer belongs to an approved small business management centre.

3 – Agricultural profits

Agricultural profits include in principle all income that farmers, tenant farmers or working owners derive from the operation of rural property. Generally speaking, agricultural profits include income derived from crop farming, livestock breeding, forestry and the sale of biomass or energy mostly derived from farming.

There are three regimes – notional, simplified actual profit and normal actual profit – depending on the amount of revenue. The profits of smallholdings are taxed on a notional basis, while those of the largest farms are taxed under the actual profit regime.

4 – Income from real property

Income from real property includes income from urban or rural developed or non-developed property in France or in other countries.

However, where such income is linked to the pursuit of an industrial, commercial, craft, agricultural or non-commercial activity, it is included in the profits of the activity according to the relevant rules.

Recipients of income from real property whose annual revenues do not exceed €15,000 and who do not let properties covered by certain special regimes benefit from a simplified tax regime called "micro-foncier". Taxable income from real property is determined after deducting a notional 30% allowance representing all expenses on the property.

Recipients of income from real property whose annual revenues exceed €15,000 are covered by an actual regime. In this case, taxable income from real property is equal to the difference between the amount of revenue and the total real amount of expenses on the property.

Persons entitled to benefit from the "micro-foncier" regime may opt for the actual regime.

The taxable amount of income from real property may be reduced, under certain strictly defined conditions, by an amortisation of the acquisition cost of new rental housing, to which may be added certain specific deductions (incentives for buy-to-let investments).

⁷ 21.3% for social security contributions and 2.2% for income tax.

⁸ 18.3% for social security contributions and 2.2% for income tax.

For investments made after 1 January 2010, the “Scellier” scheme of incentives for buy-to-let investments in the new-build sector gives entitlement to a tax reduction instead of a deduction of rental income to offset the acquisition price of the property against income tax.

5 – Wages, salaries, pensions and annuities

This category includes:

- wages, salaries, compensation and emoluments received in consideration of an employment, including the remuneration of senior managers of joint-stock corporations (chairman of the board, chief executive officer, deputy CEOs and members of the management board) and managers of limited liability companies, allowances paid to members of the French and European Parliaments and, at the beneficiary's discretion, allowances paid to the holders of local elected offices⁹;
- pensions and annuities.

The net amount of taxable income in this category is determined by deducting, inter alia, mandatory social security contributions and, when the person is in active employment, expenses inherent in the function or job from the gross amount paid.

Unless otherwise provided, gross earned income includes all amounts and benefits in kind available to the taxpayer. Expenses incurred in the acquisition of earned income are normally taken into consideration on a notional basis (a 10% deduction, capped and reviewed each year)¹⁰. However, taxpayers may opt to deduct the actual amount of their professional expenses, subject to the production of vouchers. Pensions and annuities without consideration are eligible for 10% special relief, though the amount for all members of the household may not exceed an amount increased each year in the same proportion as the upper limit of the first band of income tax¹¹.

Purchased life annuities are eligible for notional relief at a rate which varies from 30% to 70% according to the recipient's age (from under 50 to 70 or over) when the annuity becomes payable.

NB: Under Article 1 of Act 2007-1223 of 21 August 2007 for work, employment and purchasing power, payment received for overtime (for full-time workers) or additional hours (for part-time workers) worked since 1 October 2007 is exempt from tax and gives entitlement to reduced employee social security contributions.

6 – Investment income

This category covers income from variable-yield and fixed-income securities.

Income from variable-yield securities includes income from shares and similar income distributed by legal entities liable for corporation tax or for an equivalent tax (or opting for this tax). It may fluctuate depending on the performance of the issuer.

Income from fixed-income securities includes income from bonds and other negotiable debt securities and income from receivables, deposits, guarantees, shareholder advances, Treasury bills and short-term notes issued by public- or private-law legal entities. The rate of return is usually fixed during the investment period but this is not always so¹².

⁹ If the option is not exercised, a withholding in discharge of income tax is automatically applied to elected officials' allowances on payment.

¹⁰ €14,157 for the taxation of income earned in 2010.

¹¹ €3,660 for the taxation of income earned in 2010.

¹² Floating or adjustable rate bonds and equity securities for example.

INCOME FROM VARIABLE-YIELD SECURITIES (DIVIDENDS AND SIMILAR INCOME)

In principle, income distributed by French or foreign companies liable to corporation tax or an equivalent tax and received by individuals is liable to personal income tax at a progressive rate, after deducting, if the companies have their registered office in France, a European Union Member State or in a State or territory having concluded a tax treaty with an administrative assistance clause to combat tax fraud or evasion with France, a 40% allowance and an annual fixed allowance¹³.

However, as an option, for companies having their registered office in France, a European Union Member State or in a State or territory having concluded a tax treaty with an administrative assistance clause to combat tax fraud or evasion with France, this income may be subject to a 19% flat-rate withholding tax (excluding social levies) in full discharge of income tax (prélèvement forfaitaire libératoire) and thus avoid progressive taxation. The flat-rate withholding option is irrevocable and must be exercised:

- by the taxpayer at the latest on receipt of the income, where the payer is established in France, the payer paying the withholding at the latest in the first fifteen days of the month following the month in which the income is paid;
- where the payer is established outside France, by filing the return and paying the withholding in the first fifteen days of the month following the month in which the income is paid. These formalities are fulfilled by the taxpayer or the payer of the income, where it is established in a State party to the agreement on the European Economic Area and has been authorised by the taxpayer to that effect.

The option may be full or partial and, in the latter case, other distributed income received during the same year is liable to income tax at a progressive rate without the aforementioned allowances.

Finally, since 1 March 2010, income distributed by companies based in France has been liable to a 50% mandatory flat-rate withholding tax when it is paid outside France in a non-cooperative country or territory, regardless of the tax domicile of the recipient of this income.

INCOME FROM FIXED-INCOME SECURITIES (INTEREST AND SIMILAR INCOME)

In principle, this income is included in the income tax base and therefore taxed at progressive rates.

However, where the income derives from French or European fixed-income securities and the payer is established in France or in a State party to the agreement on the European Economic Area, the taxpayer may opt for a withholding tax in full discharge of income tax, the rate of which varies according to the type of income (as a rule it is 19% excluding social levies).

The taxpayer may simply opt for the withholding tax in full discharge of income tax on certain revenue or, within a category of income, on part of this income.

The withholding option is irrevocable and must be exercised:

- by the taxpayer at the latest on receipt of the income, where the payer is established in France, the payer paying the withholding at the latest in the first fifteen days of the month following the month in which the income is paid;
- where the payer is established outside France and in the EEA, by filing the return and paying the withholding in the first fifteen days of the month following the month in which the income is paid. These formalities are fulfilled by the taxpayer or the payer of the income, where it has been authorised by the taxpayer to that effect.

¹³ The allowance is €1,525 for a single person and €3050 for a couple taxed jointly.

Certain regulated savings income is expressly exempt from income tax: interest on Livret ALivret d'Épargne Populaire (LEP), Livret Jeune and Livret de Développement Durable (LDD) savings accounts.

The portion of accrued interest on home-ownership savings accounts (Plan d'épargne-logement, PELt) booked to the account as of the date of the twelfth anniversary of the plan is taxed at progressive rates or, optionally, subject to the withholding tax in full discharge of income tax.

Finally, since 1 March 2010, where the debtor is domiciled or based in France, revenue and income from fixed-income securities have been liable to a 50% mandatory flat-rate withholding tax when paid outside France in a non-cooperative country or territory within the meaning of Article 238-0 A CGI.

Life insurance policies and capitalisation contracts:

As from 1 March 2010, the abovementioned 50% rate has been applicable to revenue from life insurance policies and capitalisation contracts taken out for the benefit of persons domiciled or based in a non-cooperative country or territory.

7 – Capital gains

Capital gains may be realised by individuals in the course of managing their private assets or in the pursuit of a business activity.

CAPITAL GAINS REALISED BY PRIVATE INDIVIDUALS

The taxation of capital gains realised by private individuals applies to capital gains on real property and capital gains on the sale of transferable securities or shares.

Capital gains on disposals without valuable consideration are not taxed as such, but are included in the assessment base for duty on transfers without valuable consideration (see Taxes on assets).

Capital gains on real property

Capital gains realised on the sale of real property or property rights by individuals in the course of managing their private assets are liable to income tax at 19%¹⁴.

Capital gains realised on the disposal of securities of companies not liable to corporation tax whose assets mainly comprise real property or property rights ("companies investing predominantly in real property") are subject to the same rules.

The notary is responsible for making the return and paying the corresponding tax on the seller's behalf when the transfer is made.

The taxable event is the sale of the property or the rights relating to it. The capital gain is therefore established for the year in which the sale takes place, whatever the terms on which the price is paid.

Certain capital gains are expressly exempted, such as those that arise, under certain conditions, from the sale of the seller's main residence or sales of properties for which the price does not exceed €15,000 per property.

The taxable base is equal to the difference between the sale price and the purchase price paid by the seller (or the market value if the property was acquired free of charge), plus, where relevant, certain exhaustively specified expenses and charges. Relief equal to 10% of the gross capital gain is deducted for each year of ownership of the property after the fifth year. In practice, this relief means that capital gains on the sale of a property owned for more than fifteen years are exempt.

¹⁴ Plus 12.3% of social levies.

In principle, capital losses on property sales cannot be set off against either capital gains of the same kind or overall income. Exceptionally, capital losses and gains may be set off in certain exhaustively specified cases, such as where the sold property was acquired by successive fractions.

A fixed allowance of €1,000 is deducted from the capital gain.

The tax on the capital gain must be declared and paid to the mortgage registry of the place where the property is situated before the property registration formality.

No declaration needs to be made if the capital gain is not taxable because it is expressly exempt or because it is eligible for relief for time of ownership or if the sale generates no capital gain or a capital loss.

Under most international tax treaties concluded by France, capital gains on the sale of real property are taxable, by virtue of an exclusive right or not, in the country where the property is situated. Where no such treaty exists, capital gains realised by a resident of France on the sale of real property in another country are taxable in France.

Capital gains on the disposal of transferable securities and shares

Since 1 January 2011, net gains on the disposal of transferable securities and shares realised by persons domiciled in France for tax purposes have been taxed at a proportional 19% rate¹⁵ as from the first euro.

Moreover, for the purposes of calculating income tax, relief equal to one-third of capital gains or losses on the sale of securities or shares in European companies that are liable to corporation tax or an equivalent tax or which have opted for liability to corporation tax realised as of 1 January 2006 is deducted for each year in which the securities or shares are held after the fifth year. Relief is thus available as of the end of the sixth year. In other words, capital gains or losses on the sale of securities held for more than eight years at the date of sale are totally exempt from income tax.

For the purposes of such relief, ownership of the securities is reckoned from 1 January of the year in which they were acquired (or as of 1 January 2006 for securities acquired before that date), which means that the allowance will effectively apply to disposals as of 2012.

Under certain conditions, for senior managers of small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) who sell their shares in their business on taking retirement, the length-of-ownership relief may apply in advance for sales between 1 January 2006 and 31 December 2013 of shares acquired or subscribed for prior to 1 January 2006.

Shares acquired after this date are governed by the general relief rules described above.

The length-of-ownership relief applies only to income tax. Social levies remain payable on the entire amount of the capital gain realised by the seller.

In addition, so as to limit tax evasion, vis-à-vis individuals who were domiciled in France for tax purposes for at least six of the ten years prior to the transfer of their tax domicile outside France, Article 48 of the first Supplementary Budget Act for 2011 introduced a scheme for taxing unrealised gains on the disposal of transferable securities and shares in respect of income tax and social levies (exit tax), which are recorded during the change of tax domicile. This applies when the individuals, together with the other members of their tax household, own, directly or indirectly, at least 1% of the capital of a company or holdings which are worth more than €1.3 million.

Capital gains realised on the disposal or exchange of securities subject to tax deferral and receivables originating from an earn out clause are also covered by this measure.

¹⁵ Plus 12.3% of social levies.

This scheme applies to changes of tax domicile outside France as of 3 March 2011.

BUSINESS CAPITAL GAINS

Business capital gains are profits of an exceptional nature made on the sale of fixed assets by industrial, commercial, craft, agricultural or non-commercial enterprises.

A distinction is drawn between long-term and short-term capital gains (or losses). Short-term capital gains (or losses) are generally included in the base of the taxable profit liable to progressive rates of income tax, while long-term capital gains are taxed at a reduced rate equal to 28.3% (income tax for 16% and social levies for 12.3%).

The distinction between the long-term and short-term regimes is made according to the following rules:

- for non-depreciable assets, capital gains (or losses) are deemed to be short-term where the assets are disposed of within two years of being booked. In other cases, capital gains are long-term;
- for depreciable assets, capital gains (or losses) on disposal are deemed short-term within the limit of the amount of depreciation applied, regardless of how long the assets have been held. However, if the asset has been held for longer than two years, the portion of the capital gain greater than the amount of the depreciation applied is deemed to be long-term.
- Business capital gains realised by a taxpayer exercising an agricultural, commercial, industrial, craft or liberal profession may be totally or partially exempt under certain conditions:
 - on the sale of an individual enterprise or complete branch of activity¹⁶ where the activity has been pursued for at least five years and the value of the sold assets does not exceed certain thresholds;
 - on the retirement of an individual where the activity has been pursued for at least five years: this exemption applies only to income tax at the 16% rate and does not apply to social levies (at the 12.3% rate), which remain payable.
 - An allowance of 10% per year of ownership after the fifth year may be deducted from long-term capital gains on the sale of property allocated by the enterprise to its own operation, meaning that they are entirely exempt after fifteen years.

Capital gains realised by very small businesses are totally or partially exempt where the business activity has been pursued for at least five years and turnover does not exceed certain thresholds.

B. PERSONS NOT DOMICILED IN FRANCE

In principle, persons not domiciled in France must file an annual return reporting all their income if they have income from French sources or one or more homes in France. The rules for income received by persons domiciled in France are the same in principle for income received by persons not domiciled in France.

However, specific arrangements exist.

Withholding tax is applied to some income from French sources received by persons not domiciled in France. In some cases the withholding may discharge the income tax liability partly or in full, meaning that progressive rates of tax are not applied to the income in question.

Some types of income are expressly exempted when received by non-residents.

¹⁶ This exemption also applies to enterprises liable to corporation tax under certain conditions, relating in particular to the ownership of their capital by individuals.

1 – Income subject to withholding tax

WITHHOLDING TAX RELATING TO CERTAIN NON-COMMERCIAL AND SIMILAR INCOME

Profits from non-commercial activities carried on in France by persons not domiciled there are taxable under the same rules as for profits of the same kind received by persons domiciled in France.

However, withholding tax at 33 $\frac{1}{3}$ % is levied on non-commercial or similar income paid by a debtor carrying on a business activity in France to individuals (or companies) that do not have a permanent business establishment in France. This rate is 50% when the income and revenue are paid to individuals domiciled or based in a non-cooperative country or territory.

Withholding tax at the same rate is also generally levied on remuneration paid for services of any kind actually provided or used in France.

However, the rate is 15% for amounts, including salaries, paid for sporting performances provided or used in France¹⁷.

The amount of the withholding is set off against the income tax (or corporation tax) payable by the individual (or company) on income from French sources. The withholding is not refundable.

WITHHOLDING TAX RELATING TO INCOME FROM ARTISTIC PERFORMANCES

Amounts paid for artistic performances given or used in France by a debtor carrying on a business activity in France to persons that do not have a permanent business establishment there are subject to withholding tax at 15%. This rate is 50% when the amounts are paid to individuals domiciled or based in a non-cooperative country or territory.

For compensation paid in 2011, this withholding discharges income tax for the portion up to €41,327.

WITHHOLDING TAX RELATING TO WAGES, SALARIES, PENSIONS AND ANNUITIES

Wages, salaries, pensions and annuities paid to individuals not domiciled in France are liable to withholding tax in three bands, the limits of which are updated annually:

- no withholding tax is levied if the annual amount is less than €14,245.
- withholding tax is payable at 12% on income between €14,245 and €41,327;
- the rate is 20% for income in excess of €41,327.

The withholding can normally be set off against the final amount of tax payable.

That being said, the withholding on wages, salaries, pensions and annuities discharges income tax for the taxable portion, taxed at 12%, which does not exceed €41,327 for 2011. This arrangement is reserved for French nationals who do not have their tax domicile in France and for nationals of countries that have concluded a treaty with France containing a non-discrimination clause. The portion is not included in the income tax calculation and the corresponding withholding cannot be set off against it.

In contrast, the taxable portion of the income in question which exceeds the above-mentioned limit is included in the income tax calculation and the corresponding part of the withholding can be set off against the amount of tax.

However, these provisions do not mean that taxpayers must declare only the excess portion. They must report all wages, salaries, pensions and annuities from French sources available to them during the year of taxation together with the total amount of withholding tax levied on such income on their annual tax return.

¹⁷ The rate is 50% for amounts, other than salaries, paid to individuals domiciled or based in a non-cooperative country or territory.

2 – Other income from French sources subject to deduction at source in discharge of tax liability or to withholding tax

FINANCIAL INCOME

Income from variable-yield securities (dividends and similar income)

A 25% withholding tax in discharge of income tax liability is levied on dividends and similar income distributed by French companies to individuals not domiciled in France. The rate is 19% for dividend and similar income paid since 1 January 2008 to individuals having their tax domicile outside France in an EU Member State or in another State which is party to the agreement on the European Economic Area, and which has concluded a tax treaty having an administrative assistance clause to combat tax fraud or evasion with France. Moreover, the rate is 50% when income and revenue paid as from 1 March 2010 are paid outside France in a non-cooperative country or territory, regardless of the tax domicile of the individual receiving this income and revenue. The rate is also reduced, or the tax even waived altogether, under most international tax treaties.

The withholding tax is levied by the entity legally responsible for paying it, namely the last payer in France. However, European financial intermediaries may pay the withholding tax due on income distributed by listed French companies to their non-resident shareholders to the French State provided that they have concluded an agreement with the French tax administration and have been authorised by the entity legally responsible for paying the tax to make the appropriate returns and payments.

Income from fixed-income securities (interest and similar income)

On 1 March 2010, the rate of the flat-rate withholding tax was increased to 50% and since that date only applies to income and revenue from fixed-income securities paid by a debtor domiciled or based in France outside France in a non-cooperative country or territory, regardless of the tax domicile of the beneficiaries.

Income from loans contracted as from 1 March 2010, but which are treated as loans contracted prior to this date, is exempted from this mandatory withholding tax.

CAPITAL GAINS ON REAL PROPERTY

Under most international tax treaties concluded by France, capital gains on the sale of real property are taxable in the country where the property is situated. Capital gains on the sale of a property situated in France by a taxpayer domiciled outside France are taxable in France.

Capital gains on real property realised by non-residents are taxed in principle at a proportional 33⅓% rate.

However, they are taxed at 19% when they are realised by individuals domiciled in an EU Member State or in another State which is party to the agreement on the European Economic Area, and which has concluded a tax treaty having an administrative assistance clause to combat tax fraud or evasion with France. Moreover, the tax is calculated on the basis of corporation tax base and rate rules when the capital gains are realised by legal entities domiciled in one of the aforementioned States.

The tax rate is 50% for sales made after 1 March 2010 when the seller is domiciled in a non-cooperative country or territory.

PROFITS FROM REAL PROPERTY

Certain profits made by individuals domiciled outside France from real property are subject to a withholding tax in discharge of income tax of 33⅓% which is increased to 50% when the profits are made by taxpayers or corporations domiciled, based or incorporated in a non-cooperative country or territory.

They are:

- profits made by property dealers;

- profits made by individuals on the sale of properties they have built or had built and of related property rights;
- profits made by individuals who sell land divided into plots intended for development.

CAPITAL GAINS ON THE DISPOSAL OF SHARES DERIVING FROM SUBSTANTIAL INTERESTS

Unless otherwise provided for by an international treaty, gains resulting from the disposal by individuals or legal entities that do not have their domicile or registered office in France of shares in French companies are taxed in the same way as for individuals who have their tax domicile in France, where the seller, his or her spouse and their descendants and ascendants hold, or have held at some point during the previous five years, directly or indirectly, shares representing more than 25% of the corporate profits of the company whose shares have been sold.

Where they are taxable in France, capital gains realised by non-residents are taxed at the 19% rate and the applicable withholding tax discharges income tax.

Capital gains are taxed at a flat rate of 50%, regardless of the proportion of the profits of the relevant company, when they are realised by individuals or organisations domiciled, based or incorporated outside France in a non-cooperative country or territory.

GAINS FROM EMPLOYEE SHAREHOLDING AND SIMILAR SCHEMES

As from 1 April 2011, gains from French sources deriving from employee shareholding schemes and other employee benefits providing salaried employees and senior managers with shares under preferential conditions have been subject to a specific withholding tax¹⁸.

This withholding tax applies to employee gains and benefits from the granting of stock options, bonus shares, founding share subscription warrants (bons de souscription de parts de créateur d'entreprise, BSPCE) and, more broadly, from any granting of securities to salaried employees and senior managers under preferential conditions as consideration for their work in France when said persons are not domiciled in France for tax purposes.

The withholding tax is calculated by applying the base and rate rules provided for by the specific tax arrangements for these benefits when such apply or on the basis of the withholding tax rules laid down for salaries.

3 - Exemption of certain categories of income or profits from French sources received by persons not domiciled in France

Gains from the transfer of transferable securities for valuable consideration that are made directly or through an intermediary by persons not domiciled in France for tax purposes and do not derive from substantial interests are exempt from income tax (except for organisations and individuals domiciled, based or incorporated outside France in a non-cooperative country or territory). This also applies to legal entities whose registered office is situated outside France.

Interest on deposits made by non-residents with credit institutions established in France and interest on most bonds subscribed for by non-residents are also exempt (see section 2 above).

Finally, salaried employees and senior managers treated in the same way for tax purposes (and certain non-salaried employees) who are called upon by a company based abroad to work for a limited period for a company based in France, and salaried employees and senior managers who are directly recruited in a foreign country by a company based in France, are entitled to exemptions in respect of their earned income. These arrangements apply to persons who took up their positions after 1 January 2008, who were not domiciled in France for tax purposes during the previous five years and who set their tax domicile when taking up their position in France.

¹⁸ Article 57 of the Supplementary Budget Act for 2010.

Such "impatriates" are exempt until 31 December of the fifth year following the year in which they take up their position for the years when they are domiciled in France. The income tax exemption also applies to 50% of certain investment income and income from intellectual or industrial property rights received in other countries ("passive income") and certain capital gains on the disposal of transferable securities and shares held in other countries.

IV - DETERMINATION OF TOTAL INCOME

In principle, taxable income is determined by adding up the net income in each category available to a tax household during the year of taxation.

TAXABLE INCOME IS A TOTAL INCOME

This means that it includes all the net income of the members of a tax household in one or more categories of income.

At the same time, losses in certain categories of income are set off, in principle, against other kinds of income and any overall loss can be carried over to the total income of the subsequent six years. However, there are certain exceptions.

For example, agricultural losses cannot be set off where other income exceeds €106,225 for the taxation of income in 2010. In this case, they can be set off only against agricultural profits for the following six years.

Real property losses cannot be set off against total income except for the fraction resulting from expenditures other than loan interest, up to a limit of €10,700. The fraction that exceeds €10,700 or results from loan interest can be set off against income from real property in the following ten years¹⁹.

Likewise, losses from the exercise in a non-professional capacity of activities treated as business or non-commercial profits for tax purposes may not be set off against total net income but only against profits from such activities carried out in the same year or in the following six years.

Under the same conditions as taxpayers domiciled in France, those not domiciled in France may set off losses of the same origin against profits or income from French sources, provided that these losses are from French sources. This possibility is not available to taxpayers domiciled outside France whose taxable income is notionally based on three times the real rental value of their home(s) in France.

TAXABLE INCOME IS AN ANNUAL DISPOSABLE INCOME

The tax household is, in principle, taxed on its actual disposable income during the year (or tax period, if it derives from a non-salaried professional activity).

However, exceptional or deferred income may, under certain conditions, be taxed under the income splitting system (quotient familial), which alleviates the impact of progressive taxation.

TAXABLE INCOME IS A NET INCOME

For economic or social reasons, certain personal expenditures of the tax household are treated for tax purposes either as expenses deductible from total income or as tax reductions or credits that represent a percentage of the capped amount of the expenditure.

Court-ordered or statutory maintenance payments may be deducted from total income, in principle for the actual amount. Other exhaustively specified expenses may also be deducted, although the amount is generally capped. For example, a tax incentive to constitute retirement savings in addition to pay-as-you-go pension schemes has been introduced in the form of a capped deduction from total net income.

¹⁹ However, real property losses arising from major repairs made by certain bare owners may be set off against total income up to a limit of €25,000 per year and there is no limit on the amount of losses in respect of historic buildings that can be set off.

Since the assessment of income tax for 2009, the total benefit resulting from certain tax breaks (deductions from total income, tax reductions and credits) has been capped.

Thus, for 2011, total tax breaks on tax owed are limited to €18,000 plus 6% of total net taxable income.

In principle, the cap applies only to tax breaks granted in return for an investment or a service provided to the taxpayer. It does not apply to tax breaks linked to the taxpayer's personal situation (deduction of maintenance payments, tax breaks linked to dependency or disability) or to not-for profit initiatives in the public interest (preservation of historic monuments, donations to the voluntary sector, sponsorship, etc.).

V - CALCULATING THE TAX

The authorities calculate personal income tax on the basis of the amounts declared by taxpayers, who are required to submit a single return per tax household reporting all income received in the previous year.

In addition, those receiving income from professional activities (business profits, non-commercial profits, agricultural profits), investment income, income from real property and capital gains on real property are required to attach special declarations to the overall return. The calculation of income tax takes the taxpayer's personal situation into account.

The income tax calculation is adjusted to personal circumstances, inter alia, by means of an income splitting system and by allowing taxpayers tax reductions or credits for certain personal expenses.

THE INCOME SPLITTING SYSTEM

Income splitting is a way of taking dependents into account and, accordingly, to cushion the effects of progressive taxation by applying the progressive rate to a partial income, namely taxable income per part.

The method involves dividing the tax household's taxable income into a certain number of parts (e.g. one part for a single person, two parts for a married couple, an additional half-part for each of the first two dependent children and an additional part for each dependent child thereafter).

The progressive tax scale is then applied to the taxable income per part.

The scale, corresponding to one part, is as follows (2010 income):

Portion of taxable income (one part)	Rate (%)
Up to €5,963	0
From €5,964 to €11,896	5.5
From €11,897 to €26,420	14
From €26,421 to €70,830	30
Over €70,830	41 ²⁰

²⁰ The rate applying to the highest tax band of the progressive income tax scale was raised from 40% to 41% by the Budget Act for 2011.

This tax per part is then multiplied by the number of parts to determine the gross amount of tax payable.

For an equal number of dependents, however, the tax benefit from the income splitting system increases with the amount of taxable income. The benefit is therefore capped, for income received in 2010, at €2,336 per half-part after the first two (as in the case of a married couple with one or more dependent children).

CALCULATING THE NET TAX

The next step after determining the gross tax is to deduct any tax reductions and tax credits for which the taxpayer may be eligible, subject to the overall cap on tax breaks (see above).

Certain personal expenditures by the taxpayer that parliament wishes to encourage, in particular for social or economic reasons, give entitlement to a tax reduction or tax credit. The amount of the tax break corresponds to a given percentage of the actual expenditure, up to a ceiling. It is therefore usually independent of the amount of the taxpayer's income. In addition, any surplus, on the tax calculated after deducting tax reductions, of the tax benefit arising from tax credits may be refunded. Taxpayers not liable to tax therefore benefit from this measure.

Tax reductions currently listed in the French General Tax Code concern, for example, donations to charities and public interest bodies, the schooling costs of dependent children and subscription to the capital of small businesses.

Deductible tax credits are granted, for example, for childcare for young children, mortgage interest for the purchase of the main home, sustainable development-related equipment and personal care.

Since the assessment of income tax for 2009, the total benefit resulting from certain exhaustively specified tax breaks (deductions from total income, tax reductions and credits) has been capped.

Thus, for 2011, total tax breaks on tax owed are limited to €18,000 plus 6% of total net taxable income.

In principle, the cap applies only to tax breaks granted in return for an investment or a service provided to the taxpayer. It does not apply to tax breaks linked to the taxpayer's personal situation (deduction of maintenance payments, tax breaks linked to dependency or disability) or to not-for-profit initiatives in the public interest (preservation of historic monuments, donations to the voluntary sector, sponsorship, etc.).

NB:

On 1 January 2011, the tax benefit from most tax reductions and credits covered by the overall cap was reduced by 10%. This "proportional" reduction applies to tax reduction and credit rates and to the ceiling for setting off these benefits, stated in euros or as a percentage of income, when such a ceiling is provided for by legislation.

Moreover, taxpayers who are not domiciled in France and who are only liable to tax on their income from French sources are not entitled to deductions of expenses from total income. With certain exceptions, they are not entitled to the tax reductions or credits for taxpayers domiciled in France.

To encourage the return to work or continued employment, an earned income tax credit (prime pour l'emploi, PPE) is granted under certain conditions to taxpayers domiciled in France for tax purposes on their earned income. The tax credit is allowed against the amount of tax calculated after the deductions described above. Any surplus is refunded to the taxpayer in the form of a cheque drawn on the Treasury.

Amounts received under the inclusion benefit scheme (revenu de solidarité active, RSA) by members of a tax household during a calendar year are deducted from the amount of earned income tax credit granted to the tax household for the year. In mainland France, early payment of the earned income tax credit (in the form of lump-sum and monthly advances) was abolished as from tax assessment for 2009. This was effective as from 1 January 2009 for lump-sum advances and as from 1 January 2010 for monthly advances.

Taxpayers are informed of their net income tax liability several months after filing their income tax return by means of a notice of assessment sent to their domicile, which also states the payment date.

Tax is generally paid in two advance instalments followed by the balance, though taxpayers may opt for monthly instalments. In the latter case, payment is made by monthly direct debit of one-tenth of the previous year's tax bill between January and October, the balance being paid in the last two months.

Users may file their income tax returns and/or pay online at www.impots.gouv.fr

In addition to income tax, income received by persons domiciled in France is subject to levies introduced in recent years to supplement the funding of the social security system.

CHAPTER 3: SOCIAL LEVIES

Since its inception in 1945, the social security system has been financed mostly from contributions levied on earned income.

This arrangement distinguishes France from some of its European partners, which finance most social spending from tax.

However, in order to tackle social security funding problems and ensure that all income helps to finance social protection, supplementary levies of a tax nature were introduced to extend the range of resources. They are the general social security contribution (contribution sociale généralisée, CSG), the social security debt repayment contribution (contribution pour le remboursement de la dette sociale, CRDS), the 2.2%²¹ social levy and the 0.3% additional contribution.

Most recently an additional 1.1% contribution to the 2.2% social levy, earmarked to fund the inclusion benefit scheme, has been introduced as of 2008 or 2009 depending on the nature of the investment income concerned.

The biggest payers of corporation tax are liable to a 3.3% social contribution.

I - GENERAL SOCIAL SECURITY CONTRIBUTION (CSG)

The general social security contribution, which came into force on 1 February 1991, is a levy with a social purpose. Unlike social security contributions, which entitle those who pay them to benefits, the CSG is levied like any other tax without any direct benefit in return.

The CSG is allocated to the social security budget, and specifically to the national family allowance fund, the old-age solidarity fund and compulsory health insurance schemes.

The contribution is levied on individuals who are domiciled in France for tax purposes and, where earned or substitution income is concerned, members of a French compulsory health insurance scheme.

The CSG tax base is very wide, since it is levied in principle on earned income, substitution income, income from personal assets and income from investments in fixed-income securities subject to withholding tax or exempt from income tax.

CSG ON EARNED AND SUBSTITUTION INCOME

For income from salaried employment and similar income, the tax base comprises the gross amount of salaries and benefits in cash or in kind. 3% is deducted from this base for professional expenses, limited to four times the annual social security ceiling²². The CSG is deducted by the employer at source at a 7.5% rate and paid to URSSAF, the body that collects social security contributions.

The CSG is also levied at the 7.5% rate on non-wage earned income and paid in advance in quarterly instalments.

Substitution income is subject to:

- a rate of 7.5% for early retirement benefits received by employees who have taken early retirement since 11 October 2007;
- a reduced rate of 6.6% for other early retirement benefits, pensions and disability benefits;

²¹ The Budget Act for 2011 raised this levy from 2% to 2.2%.

²² Article 20 of the Social Security Budget Act for 2011 introduced this ceiling which was set at €35,352 for 2011.

- a rate of 6.2% for other substitution income (unemployment benefits, daily social security allowances for sickness, maternity, work-related accidents and occupational illness).

However, recipients of substitution income²³ are exempt from the CSG if their income does not exceed certain amounts, at which levels they are also exempt from local taxes. Those who do not meet the condition but whose annual amount of income tax does not exceed the collection threshold, set at €61, are liable to the CSG at a reduced 3.8% rate, wholly deductible from the income tax base.

The CSG on earned and substitution income is deductible from income tax except for a 2.4% fraction.

CSG ON INCOME FROM PERSONAL ASSETS

The CSG is levied on income from personal assets at 8.2%.

The following are liable to the CSG:

- income from real property;
- purchased life annuities;
- investment income other than income liable to withholding tax and income on which the CSG has been deducted at source (see "CSG on investment income" below);
- capital gains and profits liable to income tax at a proportional rate, including long-term business capital gains and capital gains on transferable securities before any length-of-ownership deduction, for capital gains on transferable securities realised by private individuals; the latter are liable to the CSG regardless of the total disposals for the year (the disposal proceeds tax threshold does not apply);
- business, non-commercial or agricultural income not liable to the CSG in respect of earned income;
- income of indeterminate origin subject to estimated assessment and other amounts subject to estimated assessment for non-production or late production of the tax return;
- any other income, the taxation of which is attributed to France by an international treaty.

The CSG is levied on the net amount used to determine the income tax liability.

However, the CSG is levied on the gross amount (i.e. prior to the deduction of expenses incurred for acquiring or keeping the income) for investment income received since 1 January 2008

The CSG is individually assessed and verified in the same way as income tax.

5.8% of the CSG on income from personal assets, except for capital gains liable to income tax at a proportional rate, is deductible from taxable income in the year it is paid.

CSG ON INVESTMENT INCOME

Income from fixed-income investments, together with dividends and similar income received since 1 January 2008 (with the exception of those received within the framework of a PEA equity savings plan) are liable to the CSG on investment income at 8.2%:

- where they are liable to withholding tax in full discharge of tax liability;
- where they are liable to income tax at progressive rates and the payer of the income or revenue is established in France, or where they are exempt from income tax (with the exception of certain regulated tax-free savings products, namely Livret A, Livret d'Épargne Populaire, Livret de Développement Durable, Livret Jeune and Livret d'Épargne Entreprise savings accounts).

²³ Excluding daily social security allowances, which are still liable to the CSG at 6.2%.

The CSG on investment income is also payable on capital gains on real property and on certain movables liable to income tax at a proportional rate upon disposal.

The CSG is deducted at source, generally, in the case of fixed-interest investment income and distributed income, by the payer. In the case of tax-exempt products, the deduction is made in principle on payment of the income to the debtor or to the intermediary who pays the income in question and is then responsible for paying the amounts to the State. The CSG on capital gains on real property and certain movables is collected at the same time as the withholding tax in discharge of income tax on the capital gain.

5.8% of the CSG paid on income from fixed-income investments and distributed income liable to income tax at progressive rates can be deducted from taxable income in the year in which it is paid.

The CSG yielded €82.04 billion in 2009 and is expected to yield €85.05 billion in 2011.

II – SOCIAL SECURITY DEBT REPAYMENT CONTRIBUTION (CRDS)

The CRDS, which came into force on 1 February 1996, is intended to clear the deficits of the social security system. It is also paid into the Social Security Debt Redemption Fund (Caisse d'amortissement de la dette sociale, Cades).

Like the CSG, it is payable by individuals who are domiciled in France for tax purposes and, where earned or substitution income is concerned, who contribute in any capacity whatsoever to a French compulsory health insurance scheme.

The rate is 0.5%.

The tax base is slightly wider than that of the CSG since certain categories of income exempt from the CSG, such as family allowances and housing benefits, are liable to the CRDS.

The CRDS is collected in the same way as the CSG, with the exception of the contribution on earned and substitution income from foreign sources collected by individual assessment.

The CRDS is not deductible from the income tax base.

It yielded €5.94 billion in 2009 and is expected to yield €6.15 billion in 2011.

III - 2.2% SOCIAL LEVY AND OTHER ADDITIONAL LEVIES

Individuals domiciled in France for tax purposes are liable to a 2.2%²⁴ social levy, introduced in 1998, on income from personal assets and investment income. The proceeds are allocated to the old-age solidarity fund, the national retirement pension fund and the pension reserve fund.

An additional 0.3% levy on income from personal assets and investment income, allocated to the national solidarity fund for autonomy (Caisse nationale de solidarité pour l'autonomie, CNSA), was introduced in 2004.

The Act of 1 December 2008 extending the inclusion benefit scheme and reforming integration policies introduced a new 1.1% contribution in addition to the 2.2% social levy on income from personal assets and investment income, intended to fund the earned-income supplement.

The base of and collection methods for the 2.2% levy and the 0.3% and 1.1% additional contributions are similar to those for the CSG relating to the same income or products (see Section I above).

The 2.2% levy and the 0.3% and 1.1% additional contributions are not deductible from the income tax base.

²⁴ The Budget Act for 2011 raised the social levy from 2% to 2.2%.

IV. – EMPLOYEE CONTRIBUTION ON GAINS FROM EXERCISING STOCK OPTIONS AND ACQUIRING BONUS SHARES

Individuals having received stock options and bonus shares, for which the gains from exercising the options or from acquiring the shares are subject to preferential tax arrangements, and who are affiliated to a compulsory health insurance scheme, owe this contribution.

The employee contribution was introduced to be allocated to the beneficiaries' compulsory health insurance schemes.

It is assessed on gains from exercising stock options and acquiring stock options and bonus shares allocated as of 16 October 2007.

The rate is 8%²⁵ but it is 2.5% for gains from acquiring bonus shares, the amount of which is less than half the annual social security ceiling.

The employee contribution is verified, collected and payable under the same conditions, and is subject to the same penalties as those for the CSG on income from personal assets (see Section I above).

Employee contributions are not deductible from the income tax base.

V. – CONTRIBUTION FROM BENEFICIARIES OF CLOTH CAP PENSION SCHEMES (RETRAITES CHAPEAUX)

The Social Security Budget Act for 2011, supplemented by the Budget Act for 2011, introduced a new contribution, as from 1 January 2011, on annuities received by beneficiaries of supplementary defined benefit pension plans, which are fully-funded by the company and which are paid provided the employee is working for the company when he/she retires ("cloth cap" pension schemes).

The rate of the contribution is 14% but monthly annuities of less than €500 which have already been assessed are exempt and the rate for those between €500 and €1,000 is 7%. For annuities assessed as from 1 January 2011, the thresholds are €400 and €600 respectively.

The debtor organisation withholds the contribution from the annuity before paying it over to the bodies responsible for collecting the CSG.

This contribution is not deductible from the income tax base.

VI. - SOCIAL CONTRIBUTION ON CORPORATE PROFITS (CSB)

For periods ending on or after 1 January 2000, corporation tax payers are liable to a social contribution equal to 3.3% of the corporation tax calculated on their taxable earnings at the standard rate (33.33%) or at the reduced rates (16.5% or 15%). The contribution (contribution sociale sur les bénéfiques des sociétés, CSB) is based on the amount of corporation tax for the year minus relief that may not exceed €763,000 per twelve-month period.

Corporation tax payers with turnover of less than €7,630,000, at least 75% of whose fully paid-up capital has been held continuously by individuals or a company meeting the same conditions are exempt from the contribution.

The social contribution is collected in the same way as corporation tax and with the same guarantees and sanctions. It must be paid voluntarily at the latest on the date on which the outstanding balance of corporation tax is paid. Four instalments are owed, at the same dates as corporation tax instalments, before payment of the final balance.

²⁵ Article 11 of the Social Security Budget Act for 2011 raised the contribution from 2.5% to 8%.

The social contribution on corporate profits is not a deductible expense for the purposes of calculating the assessment base for corporation tax.

It yielded €553 million in 2009 and is expected to yield €930 million in 2011.

VII - CORPORATE SOCIAL SOLIDARITY CONTRIBUTION (C3S)

Legal entities engaged in an economic activity in the competitive sector that generate turnover excluding VAT of at least €760,000 are required to pay a social solidarity contribution (contribution sociale de solidarité des sociétés, C3S) intended to finance the social protection of self-employed workers. An additional contribution to the social solidarity contribution was introduced as of 1 January 2005.

The rate of contributions is 0.16% (0.13% for the corporate social solidarity contribution and 0.03% for the additional contribution) of sales, minus any deductions.

The C3S and the additional contribution must be declared and paid to the national fund of the social security scheme for the self-employed (RSI).

The C3S yielded €4.44 billion in 2009 and the additional contribution €1.03 billion. The C3S is expected to yield €4.26 billion in 2011 and the additional contribution €982 million.

CHAPTER 4: PAYROLL TAXES

The main payroll taxes are the wage tax, the apprenticeship tax and employers' contributions to the development of continuous vocational training and to construction.

Only the wage tax is considered within the limited scope of this handbook.

The wage tax is payable by employers established in France who are not liable to VAT or were not liable to VAT on at least 90% of their turnover for the calendar year prior to that when the wages were paid.

The taxpayers are mainly banks and insurance companies, the medical and paramedical sector, associations and other non-profit bodies.

In order to cut red tape for "micro-enterprises", the wages paid by employers whose annual turnover does not exceed the thresholds for dispensation from VAT, are exempt from the wage tax.

Turnover is determined in light of all receipts and other revenue, including those not liable to VAT (particularly dividends and subsidies).

The wage tax base consists of the total amount of gross wages paid determined following the rules used to calculate social security contributions. Within the meaning of the Social Security Code, all amounts paid to salaried employees as consideration for, or in respect of, their work, particularly, salaries or earnings, holiday pay, the amount of employee contributions, allowances, bonuses, gratuities and all other benefits in cash or in kind, are considered as wages.

The tax base is calculated by multiplying the total taxable wages (within the meaning of social security regulations) by the ratio between the turnover not liable to VAT and total turnover for the year prior to their payment.

This tax liability ratio is calculated as follows:

- by numerator, the turnover which was not liable to VAT and which covers all receipts (particularly, subsidies not liable to VAT, except infrastructure subsidies and "extraordinary subsidies") and other revenue which did not provide entitlement to VAT deductions, thus including that relating to transactions not liable to VAT;
- by denominator, the total turnover, which covers all receipts and other revenue collected by the employer, regardless of the origin and classification and which also includes receipts and revenue relating to transactions not liable to VAT.

The wage tax is assessed annually by applying a progressive scale by bands to the amount of gross wages paid to each employee. The bands applicable to wages paid in 2011 are as follows:

- 4.25% for the portion of annual individual wages not exceeding €7,604;
- 8.5% for the portion of annual individual wages between €7,604 and €15,185;
- 13.6% for the portion of annual individual wages exceeding €15,185.

The tax is not payable if the annual amount does not exceed €840. Where the annual amount of the tax is more than €840 but less than €1,680, marginal relief equal to three-quarters of the difference between €1,680 and that amount is applied.

Non-profit associations are eligible for annual tax relief of €6,002 on the tax payable on wages paid in 2011.

Taxpayers pay the tax voluntarily on a monthly, quarterly or annual basis. An annual summary return must be filed in January of the following year so that the amount of tax due can be adjusted²⁶. Taxpayers whose annual wage tax bill does not exceed €840 or the amount of relief available to associations are not required to file a return.

The wage tax is deductible from the base of the tax on profits (personal income tax or corporation tax).

The wage tax yielded €11.12 billion in 2009 and is expected to yield €10.09 billion in 2011.

²⁶ Where employers liable to the wage tax make an annual payment, the return (which is the only reporting obligation) is accompanied by the total amount of tax due.

CHAPTER 5: THE CAPPING OF DIRECT TAXES ACCORDING TO INCOME ("BOUCLIER FISCAL")

Under Article 1 CGI, taxpayers may not pay more than half of their income in direct taxes.

Article 1649-0 A CGI states how the right to restitution of the portion of tax that exceeds the 50% limit is determined.

The right to restitution becomes effective on 1 January of the second year following the year in which the income concerned was received (reference period).

Pursuant to the reform of all taxes on assets which led to a reduction in wealth tax (impôt de solidarité sur la fortune, ISF) starting in 2011, Article 30 of the first Supplementary Budget Act for 2011 abolished the tax cap (bouclier fiscal) as from 1 January 2013 (right to restitution concerning income received in 2011 and tax paid in 2011 and 2012 on income for 2011).

I – INCOME TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT

The income taken into account to determine the right to restitution is the income received by the taxpayer during the reference period. It comprises:

- net income liable to personal income tax at progressive rates or on a notional basis;
- barring exhaustively specified exceptions (social or family-related legal benefits, for example), income exempt from income tax in France, whether generated in France or not.

The Economic Modernisation Act (LME) of 4 August 2008 made two changes to this arrangement:

- where a taxpayer previously domiciled in another country transfers his domicile to France, income generated outside France and exempt from income tax is taken into account to determine the right to restitution only as of the transfer date;
- taxes equivalent to income tax and social contributions and levies (CSG, CRDS, etc.) paid in other countries are deducted from the income taken into account to determine the right to restitution effective since 1 January 2008.

Moreover, the Budget Act for 2010 and the third Supplementary Budget Act for 2009 changed the methods for taking account of certain income liable to income tax:

- on the one hand, by progressively reincluding the allowances applicable for the income tax base as regards income paid out (dividends) in the income taken into account;
- on the other hand, by excluding the setting off of capital losses on disposals of transferable securities and shares and deficits recorded for years prior to the year when the income was received against the revenue taken into account to determine the right to restitution acquired for a given year.

II – TAXES TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT

Only the amount of tax paid in France is taken into account to determine the right to restitution.

- personal income tax (at progressive rates or on a notional basis), excluding the additional tax amount owing to the highest band of the income tax scale being increased from 40% to 41%, the increase from 18% to 19% of the tax rate for capital gains on disposals of transferable securities and shares, the increase from 16% to 19% of the tax rate for capital gains realised on the sale of properties and the increase from 18% to 19% of the withholding tax in full discharge of tax liability for dividends and income from fixed-income securities.

Income tax is based on an amount calculated without factoring in the 10% reduction in certain tax breaks provided for by Article 105 of the Budget Act for 2011.

- wealth tax;
- residence tax and property tax on developed and undeveloped land relating to the main home and certain additional taxes;
- social contributions and levies (CSG, CRDS, social levy²⁷ and additional contributions²⁸ to this levy). In this case, the social levy is charged at 2%.

III. – METHODS FOR EXERCISING THE RIGHT TO RESTITUTION

Taxpayers may exercise their right to restitution in two ways:

- either by filing an application for restitution of the portion of tax already paid which exceeds half of their revenue;
- or by setting off the receivable held over the State arising from their right to restitution against the payment of wealth tax, property tax and residence tax relating to the main home, and contributions and social levies on income from personal assets (self-assessment procedure).

These alternative methods for exercising the right to restitution (application for restitution or self-assessment) will continue to apply uniquely to taxpayers who benefit from the “tax cap” and do not owe wealth tax for the last two years when the right to restitution applies (“tax cap”, acquired in 2011 and 2012).

Articles 5 and 30 of the first Supplementary Budget Act for 2011 change the methods for exercising the right to restitution uniquely for persons liable to wealth tax for 2011 and 2012:

- on the one hand, by generalising the exercising of the right to restitution by the self-assessment procedure;
- on the other hand, by only setting off the receivable corresponding to the right to restitution against the single wealth tax contribution owed for the same year. The portion of the right to restitution not set off against the wealth tax contribution owed by taxpayers represents a receivable held over the State which may only be set off against wealth tax contributions owed for subsequent years.

These new methods apply to all taxpayers having a right to restitution acquired as at 1 January 2011 or 2012 and who owe wealth tax for said years.

²⁸ 0.3% and 1.1%.

However, to exercise the right to restitution acquired in 2011, exclusive self-assessment for wealth tax is only available to taxpayers, owing wealth tax for said year, who did not file an application for restitution prior to 30 September 2011.

PART II

TAXES ON EXPENDITURE

Taxes on expenditure are levied on household and business consumption and investment.

Taxes on expenditure traditionally took the form of indirect consumption duties, circulation duties and customs duties.

The introduction of VAT and its widespread application have considerably reduced the scope of such indirect taxes and hence the revenue they raise, although one of them, the domestic tax on petroleum products, still yields significant amounts.

CHAPTER 1: VALUE ADDED TAX

In order to create a single market between EU Member States, a number of VAT directives have been issued since 1967 which Member States have had to transpose into their domestic law. Rules on the scope, tax base, liability for the tax, territoriality of the supply of goods and service provision and reporting requirements have been partially harmonised. Member States may apply transitional provisions relating to rates, exemptions and deduction entitlements, the rules for which are being harmonised.

I. - CHARACTERISTICS OF VAT

A. VAT IS A TERRITORIAL TAX

VAT is a general consumption tax levied on all goods supplied and services provided in France.

The territory in which VAT applies includes continental France, Corsica, the Principality of Monaco, territorial waters, the continental shelf and the départements of Guadeloupe, Martinique and La Réunion. However, the three overseas départements are deemed export territories with regard to metropolitan France, in the same way as third countries. VAT is temporarily not applicable in the départements of French Guiana and Mayotte.

Supplies of tangible movable goods are deemed to be made in France where the good is situated in France:

- at the time of shipment or transport by the seller or the buyer or by another party on their behalf to the buyer;
- on assembly or installation by the seller or on the seller's behalf;
- when it is made available to the buyer, if it is not shipped or transported;
- at the time of departure of a transport, the place of arrival of which is on the territory of another Member State of the European Community, in cases where delivery, during such transport, is made on board a boat, an aircraft or a train.

The place where a service is provided is deemed to be in France where the customer is liable to the tax, acts as such and has the registered office of his business or a permanent establishment to which the service is provided or, failing that, his domicile or usual home in France. Moreover, the place where a service is provided to persons not liable to the tax is in France when the service provider has the registered office of his business or a permanent establishment from which the service is provided or, failing that, his domicile or usual home in France.

However, where services are not taxed following the application of these principles in the place where they are actually used, there are derogations to ensure such taxation. For example, some services are taxed in the location of the building to which they relate (accommodation, works on property, etc.), some in the location where they are physically provided (catering, cultural and sporting services, etc.), and some in other more specific locations such as the place where the means of transport is provided to the customer in the case of short-term vehicle rentals.

Foreign trade transactions (exports of tangible goods and similar supplies, provision of services relating to international trade in goods or transactions relating to ships and aircraft, intra-Community supplies and similar transactions) are generally exempt from VAT under certain conditions. However, taxpayers who carry out such transactions are entitled to deduct the VAT they have paid on the purchase of goods and services used in such transactions.

Intra-Community imports and acquisitions and similar transactions are in principle liable to VAT in France if that is where the transaction takes place.

B. VAT IS A REAL TAX

Liability to VAT is determined by the type of the transactions or products concerned, regardless of the personal situation of the liable person or customer.

Accordingly, VAT is levied on goods supplied and services provided:

- in the context of an economic activity (whatever the type);
- for valuable consideration;
- by a liable person, i.e. a person independently performing transactions that fall within the scope of VAT.

Activities carried on by legal entities governed by public law in their capacity as public authorities fall outside the scope of VAT except where non-liability leads to a distortion of competition.

Various exemptions exist, including:

- teaching;
- medical and paramedical activities and hospital care costs;
- public interest organisations;
- insurance and reinsurance and the provision of related services;
- some banking operations (the granting and negotiation of credit, the grantor's management of credit, the negotiation and assumption of commitments, guarantees and other forms of security interest, the management of credit guarantees by the grantor of the credit, etc.).

Voluntary taxation is available as an option for some exempted activities, such as the letting of undeveloped real property for business use, the letting of rural property, banking and financial transactions normally exempt from VAT, etc.

C. VAT IS AN INDIRECT TAX PAID IN FRACTIONS

VAT is finally borne by the end-user since it is included in the sale price of products or services. Each intermediary (manufacturer, retailer, etc.) collects the tax provided for by law from the customer and pays it on to his local tax office, minus the VAT on inputs paid to his own supplier. VAT is a tax on value added, i.e. the value added to the product or service at each stage of production or marketing, such that at the end of the economic chain through which the good or service reaches the buyer, whatever its length, the overall tax burden corresponds to the tax calculated on the final sale price to the consumer.

D. VAT IS A PROPORTIONAL TAX

VAT is calculated by applying a proportional rate to the base amount of the transaction (free of VAT), whatever that amount may be.

II. – TAX BASE

For the supply of goods, the provision of services and acquisitions within the EU, the tax base consists of all the sums, valuables, goods or services received or to be received by the supplier or service provider in return for them from the buyer, the customer or a third party, including subsidies directly linked to the price of such transactions.

Accordingly, in addition to the agreed price, the tax base includes all taxes, duties and levies of any kind except VAT itself and all incidental expenses. Such expenses include transport, insurance, packaging, etc. Conversely, the taxable price does not include price reductions (cash discounts, rebates, etc. granted directly to the customer) or amounts refunded to intermediaries who incur expenses on their principals' behalf, insofar as the intermediaries are accountable to their principals, enter such expenses in suspense accounts in their books and justify the nature or exact amount of such outlays to the tax authorities.

The tax base for imports is the value defined by customs law in accordance with the prevailing EU rules. As with domestic goods and services, however, the tax base must include duties, taxes and levies, excluding discounts, rebates and other reductions, plus incidental expenses (commission, packaging, transport and insurance) to the destination point and expenses arising from transport to another destination point within the EU, if known when the taxable event occurs.

Taxable persons are dispensed from paying VAT if their turnover during the preceding calendar year did not exceed²⁹:

- €81,500 excluding VAT for supplies of goods, sales of food and drink to be consumed on the premises or accommodation services (€89,600 where turnover in the year before that did not exceed €81,500);
- €32,600 excluding VAT for other services (€34,600 where turnover in the year before that did not exceed €32.600).

Special rules apply for activities falling into the two categories mentioned above. There is also a €42,300 (excluding VAT) exemption threshold for authors, artists, performers and solicitors responsible for court-of-appeal proceedings (avoués).

Persons eligible for dispensation may elect to waive their right and opt to pay VAT.

III. – CALCULATING THE AMOUNT OF VAT

In order to determine how much they should pay, liable persons³⁰ deduct VAT paid on the purchase of goods and services used to perform the transactions liable to VAT from their taxable turnover.

A. CALCULATING GROSS VAT

The amount of gross VAT is calculated by multiplying the net amount of the sale or provision of service (i.e. the amount excluding VAT) by the rate applicable to the transaction concerned.

²⁹ The turnover thresholds for dispensation from VAT have been updated annually since 1 January 2010.

³⁰ See definition in the glossary.

The rates are:

- the standard rate, which has been 19.6% since 1 April 2000. The standard rate applies to all transactions not expressly subject to another rate;
- a 5.5% reduced rate for most food and agricultural products, certain types of animal feed products, medicinal products not reimbursed by the social security, books, real property transactions carried out in implementation of the low-rental housing policy and certain services under certain conditions (mainly the provision of accommodation, the provision of meals to company canteens and hospitals, passenger transport and certain shows). Since 15 September 1999, the 5.5% rate has also applied to improvements, conversions and maintenance work on residential premises more than two years old, except for the portion corresponding to the supply of certain large items of equipment. As of 1 July 2009, the 5.5% rate also applies in the restaurant sector to sales of food and drink for consumption on the premises, with the exception of alcoholic drinks;
- a special 2.1% rate charged in particular on press publications and medical drugs reimbursed by social security.

Special rates apply in the overseas départements (Guadeloupe, Martinique, La Réunion) and in Corsica.

B. SETTING OFF THE TAX ON INPUTS

Except where expressly provided otherwise (e.g. expenditure on accommodation, passenger transport, etc.), VAT invoiced to liable persons by their suppliers on acquired goods and services (purchases, overheads, capital expenditure) used to perform transactions liable to VAT or exempt from VAT but giving entitlement to a deduction (foreign trade transactions) is deducted from gross VAT.

Taxpayers determine the total amount of VAT to be paid themselves.

If the difference between gross tax and input tax is negative, liable persons will generally set off the surplus against their future tax liability, though they may ask for a refund under certain conditions.

Liable persons based in other countries may under certain conditions obtain a refund of VAT charged on goods purchased or imported and services provided in France under the procedure provided for in Directive 2008/9/EC of 12 February 2008 (taxable persons established in an EU Member State) or the Thirteenth Council Directive 86/560/EEC of 17 November 1986 (taxable persons not established in an EU Member State).

IV. - OBLIGATIONS ON LIABLE PERSONS

Liability to VAT entails the following obligations:

- reporting the existence, identification or discontinuation of an activity;
- keeping itemised accounts supported by vouchers or a special ledger;
- issuing invoices showing the price excluding VAT, the rate, the amount of VAT and the VAT identification number of the seller or service provider and, for certain intra-Community transactions, that of the buyer or customer;
- filing monthly or quarterly turnover returns, depending on the annual amount of tax payable;
- filing European Sales Lists for goods and services for certain intra-Community transactions for statistical and tax purposes;

- voluntarily paying the tax to the Business tax service (service des impôts des entreprises, SIE) on submitting the turnover return or in instalments paid in advance.

These obligations are reduced for liable persons exempt from VAT.

V. – SPECIAL RULES

There are also numerous sets of special rules that take into account the particular conditions for the exercise of certain activities, such as banking and financial services, investment gold transactions and travel agencies.

The Supplementary Budget Act for 2010 changed the rules concerning VAT on real property transactions.

Previously, there were two regimes, that of “property dealers” and that relating to construction operations (“VAT on immovable property”). The new arrangements, which have been in force since 11 March 2010, distinguish between real property transactions carried out by liable persons (companies, property professionals, etc.), governed by identical rules close to ordinary law, and those carried out outside the context of a business activity and which are only occasionally liable to VAT. The following real property transactions carried out outside a business activity are liable to VAT: selling on property acquired off-plan and the delivery to oneself of certain new accommodation units built pursuant to the low-rental housing policy.

VAT yielded €118.45 billion net in 2009 and is expected to yield €130.61 billion net in 2011.

CHAPTER 2: EXCISE DUTIES

Directive 2008/118/EC of 16 December 2008, Directives 92/83/EC and 92/84/EC (alcohol), Directives 92/79/EC, 92/80/EC and 95/59/EC (tobacco) and Directive 2003/96/EC (energy products) have partly harmonised indirect taxes (excise duties) at Community level.

The harmonisation relates to energy products, alcoholic products and tobacco products. The new system was transposed into French law as of 1 January 1993.

Other products remain subject to national rules.

I – TAXATION OF ALCOHOL AND ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

For tax purposes, alcoholic beverages are drinks with alcohol by volume (ABV) of 1.2% or more (0.5% for beer).

THERE ARE FOUR INDIRECT TAXES ON ALCOHOL AND ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES, CONCERNING:

- alcohol (with more than 1.2% ABV) and alcoholic beverages (with more than 22% ABV) not included in another category (wine, beer, intermediate products). This definition includes brandies, liqueurs and spirits liable to the consumption duty on alcohol. Duty is assessed on the volume of pure alcohol contained in the products, expressed in hectolitres of pure alcohol (HPA). The duty yielded €2.03 billion in 2009 and is expected to yield €2.09 billion in 2011. For public health reasons, alcoholic beverages with more than 25% ABV are liable to a special levy which yielded €493 million in 2009 and which is expected to yield €513 million in 2011;
- alcoholic beverages known as "intermediate products", with not more than 22% ABV. Including fortified wines, liqueur wines and wine-based aperitifs, they are liable to consumption duty on intermediate products. Duty is assessed on the volume of finished product expressed in hectolitres (HL). The duty yielded €105 million in 2009 and is expected to yield €101 million in 2011;
- wine and fermented beverages other than wine and beer. This category includes still and sparkling wines with between 1.2% and 18% ABV, provided that the alcohol content results entirely from fermentation. It also includes all fermented beverages other than beer with between 1.2% and 15% ABV, such as cider, perry and mead. These products are liable to circulation duty. The circulation duty on these products is assessed on the volume of finished product expressed in hectolitres (HL). The duty yielded €117 million in 2009 and is expected to yield €123 million in 2011;
- beers with over 0.5% ABV. Beer is liable to a specific duty, assessed on alcoholic strength and volume. The specific duty, which also applies to non-alcoholic beverages, yielded €376 million in 2009 and is expected to yield €396 million in 2011.

Consumption and circulation duty are calculated when the products are made available for consumption. Any person trading in spirits, alcohol-based products and alcoholic beverages must also comply with specific economic regulations.

Since 1 January 2009, these duties have been entirely allocated to the welfare scheme for non-salaried farmers.

The rates of the duties on alcohol and alcoholic beverages are increased annually on 1 January proportionally to the increase in the consumer price index, not including tobacco products, for the year before last.

II - DOMESTIC CONSUMPTION TAX ON ENERGY PRODUCTS

Energy products (petroleum products, natural gas, coal) are liable to the following indirect taxes: the domestic consumption tax on petroleum products (taxe intérieure sur les produits pétroliers, TIPP), calculated on volumes or bulk quantities (euros per hectolitre, for example for fuels like diesel and unleaded petrol), the domestic consumption tax on natural gas (taxe intérieure de consommation sur le gaz naturel, TICGN) and the domestic consumption tax on coal (taxe intérieure de consommation sur les charbons, TICC). All these products are also liable to VAT. Domestic consumption taxes are included in the tax base for products liable to VAT. All these products are also liable to VAT. Domestic consumption taxes are included in the tax base for products liable to VAT.

TIPP is determined according to the physical characteristics of the taxed petroleum products and calculated according to customs tariffs.

TIPP applies only in metropolitan France (continental France and Corsica) and does not apply in the overseas départements and territorial units³¹.

A portion of the TIPP tariff on diesel and unleaded petrol is allocated to the regions to finance policies for which regional authorities are responsible.

Each region can increase or reduce the regional fraction of domestic consumption tax allocated to it within certain limits. Regions may not increase or reduce the regional tariff on petrol by more than €1.77 per hectolitre or on diesel by more than €1.15 per hectolitre.

Since the Budget Act for 2010, regional councils have also been entitled to increase the domestic consumption tax on fuel sold to end consumers if the receipts are entirely allocated to funding a sustainable transport infrastructure as set forth in Articles 11 and 12 of the Grenelle 1 Act.

Domestic consumption taxes are collected by General Directorate of Customs and Excise (DGDDI) when the products are made available for consumption on the domestic market.

The taxes yielded €14.90 billion in 2009 and are expected to yield €14.16 billion in 2011.

³¹ A special consumption tax is levied on petrol and diesel in the overseas départements.

III - TAX TREATMENT OF TOBACCO

Duty on tobacco products is payable when they are made available for consumption. The duty, the revenue from which is paid to various social security organisations, yielded €9.89 billion in 2009 and is expected to yield €10.43 billion in 2011.

IV - ENTERTAINMENT TAX

Entertainment tax is levied on receipts from admissions to sporting events, except for certain sports, and the amounts that gambling clubs and houses levy on bets. The revenue accrues to communes. The tax yielded €26 million in 2009 and is expected to yield the same figure in 2011.

V – DUTY ON PRECIOUS METALS

The State guarantees the fineness of gold, silver and platinum materials by hallmarking them in return for the payment of duty. The rate varies according to the nature and content of the precious metal used. The taxable event is the release of the products concerned onto the market. The duty yielded €39 million in 2009 and is expected to yield €41 million in 2011.

VI – GENERAL TAX ON POLLUTING ACTIVITIES

Introduced by the Budget Act for 1999, the general tax on polluting activities (taxe générale sur les activités polluantes, TGAP) was created by pooling existing taxes and mandatory levies allocated to the environment and energy management agency, ADEME.

It was created as an incentive to environmental protection on the basis of the "polluter pays" principle, whereby harm caused to the environment is liable to a specific tax intended as a disincentive to polluting activities by making them more expensive.

The TGAP applies to the storage and disposal of household and special industrial waste, atmospheric emissions of pollutants, the operation of classified facilities presenting specific environmental risks, the distribution of unsolicited printed material, the release for consumption of certain lubricants, detergents and mined or quarried materials, fossil fuels, and the marketing and use of plastic bags. For enterprises that engage in such activities, these also constitute the taxable events. A specific tax base and rate applies to each category.

Persons liable to the TGAP are required to voluntarily declare³² the amount of tax payable and make advance payments, the balance being determined when the declaration is filed. The tax is collected and controlled by the General Directorate of Customs and Excise, except for the TGAP relating to classified facilities, which is collected by the authorities responsible for inspecting such facilities.

The tax yielded €623 million in 2009 and is expected to yield €729 million in 2011³³.

³² Except for the TGAP on the distribution of unsolicited printed material, which is intended as a penalty.

³³ Including €508 million in 2011 for the ADEME.

PART III TAXES ON ASSETS

Assets may be taxed when transferred for valuable consideration (sale) or without valuable consideration (gift, inheritance). In these cases, the tax generally takes the form of registration duty.

Assets may also be taxed by the fact of their ownership. In that case they are liable to an annual tax on their total value, in the form of wealth tax and property tax, the latter being assessed on real property only. As a local tax, property tax is considered in Part IV.

Assets may also be liable to capital gains tax on disposal. As capital gains constitute income, their tax treatment is considered in Part I (taxes on income) of this handbook.

CHAPTER 1: REGISTRATION DUTIES

I – REGISTRATION FORMALITY

Traditionally, the registration formality involves a civil servant analysing a deed and assessing and collecting the duties provided for by law. Taxation is therefore a primary purpose, but registration also has civil consequences since it gives the deed a legal date and, in certain cases, is a condition of its validity.

Civil registration may be combined with the property registration formality whereby transfers of real property are made a matter of public record. The combined registration formality most commonly applies to deeds relating to the sale of real property or real property rights.

In principle, tax is assessed on the market value of the assets at the date of the deed or transfer, as expressed in the deed or in the estimated value declaration filled out by the parties and controlled by the authorities. The market value of an asset corresponds to the price at which it could be sold or bought under market conditions.

Registration duties may be fixed, proportional or progressive depending on the type of deed or legal transaction subject to the formality.

Fixed duties are constant for all deeds in a given category or not liable to proportional or progressive duties. They apply to judicial documents (criminal orders, court judgments), extrajudicial documents (drawn up by legal officers, auctioneers and valuers, gendarmes) and certain deeds liable to fixed duty, the amount of which varies according to the nature of the taxable transaction (innominate deeds, notarised deeds, divorces).

Proportional duties represent a constant percentage of the value of the assets that are the subject of legal deeds or transactions. They apply mainly to sales of real property, certain corporate transactions and insurance policies.

Progressive duties are those whose rate increases with the value of the assets concerned. They apply in particular to transfers without valuable consideration.

In principle, duty is paid when deeds are presented for registration. In some cases, however, payment may be made by instalments or deferred. Duty on transfers without valuable consideration (duty payable when deeds of gift or declarations of estate are filed) may in some cases be paid in the form of art works handed over to the State, subject to ministerial approval.

The tax normally accrues to the State, but départements and communes receive some of the revenue from duty on sales of real property.

Registration duties yielded €11.44 billion in 2009 and are expected to yield €9.09 billion in 2011 for the State.

II – MAIN REGISTRATION DUTIES

A. SALE OF REAL PROPERTY

A proportional duty is levied on sales of real property, in principle subject to the combined formality, comprising the following elements:

- land registration tax, which accrues to the département and is calculated in principle at a single 3.8% rate. Départements may adjust the rate, though it may not be less than 1.20% or more than 3.8%;
- an additional 1.2% tax that accrues to communes or departmental equalisation funds³⁴;
- a 2.37% levy on the amount of the duty that accrues to the département, charged by the State for "assessment and collection costs";

Acquisitions made by the State or by its scientific, educational, assistance or charitable establishments or by local authorities are exempt from all transfer duty.

B. TRANSFERS OF BUSINESSES AND SIMILAR TRANSFERS

Transfer duties comprise a duty accruing to the State plus a tax for the département and a tax for the commune.

The following table gives a breakdown³⁵:

Fraction of the taxable value	State	Département	Commune	Aggregate
Up to €23,000	0%	0%	0%	0%
€23,000 - €107,000	2%	0.60%	0.40%	3%
€107,000 – €200,000	0.60%	1.40%	1%	3%
Over €200,000	2.60%	1.40%	1%	5%

Special rates apply to transfers of businesses in certain priority areas for regional development.

C. REGISTRATION DUTIES APPLICABLE TO COMPANIES

Companies are liable to registration duties on incorporation, on the occurrence of certain events during their lifetime and on dissolution, and when shareholders sell their shares.

INCORPORATION

The creation of a company implies the contribution to the company of assets distinct from those of the shareholders.

³⁴ The fund divides the tax receipts among communes with fewer than 5,000 inhabitants.

³⁵ Scale applicable to transfers of businesses completed since 6 August 2008.

Contributions made in exchange for shares fully exposed to the risks of the undertaking are in principle exempt from registration duty.

However, a contribution made by a person not liable to corporation tax to a legal entity liable to corporation tax is treated in the same way as a transfer for valuable consideration. In this case:

- where the contribution concerns real property or real property rights, a special transfer duty is levied at an overall 5% rate;
- where the contribution concerns a business, goodwill, a right to a lease or a promise of a lease on real property, a special transfer duty is levied, calculated by applying the scale used to assess the duty payable on transfers of businesses.

However, an exemption applies if the contributor keeps the shares remitted in return for the contribution for three years.

Contributions for valuable consideration, which may be analysed as a sale by the contributor to the company in return for unconditional compensation such as the payment of a sum of money or the assumption of a liability incurred by the contributor, are treated as transfers for valuable consideration according to the nature of the assets concerned (real property, business as a going concern, etc.).

Contributions may be a mixture of the two (i.e. remunerated both by shares and by unconditional compensation), in which case the relevant treatment is applied to each category.

LIFETIME

Changes may take place during a company's lifetime that affect its share capital or certain aspects of its status.

Capital increases in cash or by incorporation of earnings, reserves or provisions are liable to fixed duty of €375 if the company's capital is less than €255,000 or €500 if it is €255,000 or more. Capital increases by way of new contributions in kind are treated in the same way as contributions on incorporation.

Capital reductions, whether shareholders are reimbursed or not, are also liable to fixed duty of €375, or €500 for companies with capital of €225,000 or more.

The €375 duty is payable on mergers, demergers and partial business transfers between companies liable for corporation tax where the company's capital is less than €255,000 (€500 where the capital is €255,000 or more). Contributions for valuable consideration resulting from a merger are liable to the transfer duty indicated above; however, where the company making the takeover assumes the liabilities that encumber the contributions, they are then exempt from any transfer or land registration duty.

DISSOLUTION

Deeds dissolving companies are liable to the €375 fixed duty (€500 for companies with capital of €225,000 or more) where they do not record any transfer of assets between the shareholders or other persons.

Dissolution of a company is generally followed by a period during which its assets are liquidated. The transfer of corporate assets to third parties is liable to sales duty according to the nature of the asset. Duty may be payable on transfer to and division between shareholders according to the tax treatment of the company, the nature of the transferred assets and the transferees.

TRANSFERS OF SHARES FOR VALUABLE CONSIDERATION

Transfers of shares are normally taxed at a fixed 3% rate assessed on the value of the transferred shares.

However:

- for shares classified as actions, the amount of duty payable is capped at €5,000. For listed companies, transfer duty is payable only if the transfer is recorded by deed;
- for shares classified as parts sociales, relief equal to €23,000 divided by the total number of shares is applied to the value of each share;
- for transfers of participating interests in companies investing predominantly in real property³⁶, the rate is increased to 5% without any cap or relief.

Because of the many different types of company and share there are many special registration regimes that are not considered in the limited scope of this handbook.

Irrespective of registration duty, capital gains on transfers of shares are likely to be liable to income tax (see the corresponding section in Part I, Income tax).

D. INHERITANCE AND GIFT DUTIES

Transfers without valuable consideration include transfers following death (inheritance) and transfers without consideration inter vivos (gifts).

For duty on transfers without valuable consideration, the following distinction has to be made in order to determine the basis of assessment:

- where the donor or deceased is or was domiciled in France for tax purposes, duty on transfers without valuable consideration is payable on all movables and real property situated in or outside France;
- where the donor or deceased is not or was not domiciled in France for tax purposes:
 - where the beneficiary is domiciled in France at the transfer date or has been domiciled there for at least six of the previous ten years, duty on transfers without valuable consideration is payable on movables and real property situated in or outside France;
 - where the beneficiary is domiciled outside France, transfer duty is payable only on the French assets he or she receives.

For certain assets, the rules for determining the basis of assessment differ according to whether the transfer is an inheritance or a gift. In the case of an inheritance, the deceased's debts at the date of death are generally deducted from the assets of the estate.

In the case of a gift, debts incurred by the donor in order to acquire or in the interest of the transferred assets that are passed on to the recipient in the deed of gift are deductible from the basis on which duty on transfers without valuable consideration is assessed.

In the case of an inheritance, amounts, annuities or values payable directly or indirectly by one or more insurance companies or similar undertakings ("life insurance", as a rule) on the policyholder's death are liable to transfer duty following death according to the degree of kinship between the beneficiary and the policyholder, up to the fraction of premiums in excess of €30,500 paid after the age of 70.

Where such amounts, annuities or values are not liable to transfer duty following death, they are subject to a specific levy:

³⁶ A company investing predominantly in real property is an unlisted legal entity whose assets mainly consist or consisted during the year before the transfer of the interests concerned of real property or real property rights situated in France or participating interests in other unlisted legal entities investing predominantly in real property. Rent-controlled housing bodies and semi-public companies that build or manage low-rental housing are not deemed companies investing predominantly in real property.

- of 20% of the portion reverting to each beneficiary between €152,500 and €902,838 (2011 figures, revised annually);
- and 25% for the fraction of the net portion reverting to each beneficiary over €902,838.

These amounts, annuities or values correspond to the redeemable fraction of policies and premiums paid in respect of the non-redeemable fraction of policies, other than survivor annuity policies and certain retirement savings policies taken out in the context of a professional activity.

For inheritances since 22 August 2007, transfer duty following death and the aforementioned 20% and 25% levies do not apply to the surviving spouse, partners of a PACS (Civil Solidarity Pact) and, under certain conditions³⁷, brothers and sisters living under the same roof.

Duty on transfers without valuable consideration is calculated by applying a progressive or proportional scale to the amount of the net share received by each beneficiary, where relevant minus relief³⁸, the amount of which varies according to the degree of kinship between the parties to the transfer.

For inheritances and gifts made in 2011, the relief applied to the net portion of each taxpayer is:

- €159,325 for ascendants, children and people with disabilities;
- €80,724 for donations between spouses and between partners of a PACS;
- €15,932 for brothers and sisters who do not fulfil the conditions for exemption from transfer duty without consideration;
- €7,967 for nephews and nieces.

Other relief is also available for gifts to grandchildren (€31,865) and great-grandchildren (€5,310).

The progressive or proportional rate varies according to the value of the assets transferred and the degree of kinship between the deceased or donor and the heir or beneficiary. There are several different scales.

SCALE APPLICABLE AS FROM 31 JULY 2011 TO TRANSFERS (INHERITANCE OR GIFT) BETWEEN PARENTS AND CHILDREN

Fraction of net taxable part	Rate (%)
Up to €8,072	5
€8,072 - €12,109	10
€12,109 - €15,932	15
€15,932 - €552,324	20
€552,324 - €902,838	30
€902,838 - €1,805,677	40
Over €1,805,677	45

³⁷ The brother or sister must be single, widowed, separated or divorced at the time of death, be over 50 years of age upon inheritance or suffer from an infirmity that prevents them from meeting their own needs and have been constantly domiciled with the deceased during the five years before death.

³⁸ Updated on 1 January each year in the same proportion as the upper limit of the first band of the income tax scale.

SCALE APPLICABLE AS FROM 31 JULY 2011 TO GIFTS³⁹ BETWEEN SPOUSES AND PARTNERS OF A PACS

Fraction of net taxable part	Rate (%)
Up to €8,072	5

Over €1,805,677	45

SCALE APPLICABLE IN 2011 TO TRANSFERS (INHERITANCE OR GIFT) BETWEEN BROTHERS AND SISTERS

35% for the portion up to €24,430, 45% thereafter.

RATE APPLICABLE TO TRANSFERS BETWEEN RELATIVES UP TO THE FOURTH DEGREE INCLUSIVE

RATE APPLICABLE IN OTHER CASES (BETWEEN RELATIVES BEYOND THE FOURTH DEGREE AND NON-RELATIVES)

60 %.

Reductions for dependent family members are applied to inheritance duty.

Various rules exist for special exemptions according to the status of the deceased or heir, as in the case of gifts or legacies to the State or to scientific, educational, assistance or charitable public establishments.

Exemptions may also apply according to the nature or situation of the assets transferred. For example, shares in companies and sole proprietorships having an industrial, commercial, craft, agricultural or professional activity are exempt from duty on transfers without valuable consideration for up to 75% of their value under certain conditions. In particular, the deceased or donor, with other shareholders, must have given a collective undertaking to keep the transferred shares. The rule is designed to favour transfers of undertakings. Similar concessions also apply to transfers of woods and forests.

Family gifts of cash up to €31,865 (for gifts in 2011), every ten years, are exempt from duty on transfers without valuable consideration provided that the donor is under 80 and the beneficiary is an adult.

³⁹ Inheritances between spouses or partners of a PACS that have occurred since 22 August 2007 are exempt from duty on transfers without valuable consideration.

CHAPTER 2: STAMP DUTIES AND SIMILAR DUTIES

Stamp duties (droits de timbre) are collected on the performance of certain administrative formalities or the drafting of certain documents; they are also a way of paying for the delivery of certain documents.

They are generally paid by affixing a sticking stamp to a written document.

I – STAMP DUTIES

The size-related stamp duty (droit de timbre de dimension) payable until 1 January 2006 for each page of deeds liable to registration duty (especially notarised deeds and loan agreements of credit institutions) has been abolished.

Stamp duty is still payable on receipts relating to certain games of chance (lottery, pool betting, instant lotteries).

Stamp duty has to be paid in order to obtain many administrative documents, such as residence permits and passports, hunting permits and licences to drive motor pleasure boats.

II - VEHICLE STAMP DUTY

The level of polluting vehicle emissions has become a criterion for setting the amount of duty payable on documents relating to motor vehicles.

A. TAX ON VEHICLE REGISTRATION CERTIFICATES⁴⁰

A tax (taxe sur les certificats d'immatriculation des véhicules) accruing to regional authorities is payable on automobile and other motor vehicle registration certificates, except where specifically provided otherwise by law.

The regional tax on registration certificates may be fixed or proportional.

The regional council sets the rate per unit of horsepower of the proportional tax payable on registration certificates issued within the region.

The regional council may take a decision to exempt non-polluting vehicles or vehicles running on E85 ethanol from all or half of the tax.

B. SURTAX ON THE MOST POLLUTING PRIVATE VEHICLES

Vehicles that emit more than a certain level of carbon dioxide registered for the first time in France or elsewhere on or after 1 January 2008 may be liable to a tax in addition to the tax on registration certificates issued when they are first registered in France.

⁴⁰ Known as the "carte grise".

The surtax (écopastille or malus) applies to private cars with EC type-approval⁴¹ that emit more than 150 grams of carbon dioxide per kilometre travelled (150 gr CO₂/km)⁴².

The amount of the surtax ranges from €200 to €2,600 depending on the vehicle's pollution level. The CO₂ emission levels according to which liability to the tax is determined are reduced until 2012.

For vehicles that do not have EC type-approval, the tax depends on the fiscal horsepower (CV). Ranging from €750 to €2,600, it is payable on vehicles with a fiscal horsepower rating of more than 7 (7 CV).

Vehicles registered as "specialised motor vehicles" or disabled vehicles and vehicles registered by holders of an invalidity card are exempt from the tax.

The CO₂ emission levels in the surtax scale are reduced by 20 grams for each dependent child as of the third.

A 40% reduction in the CO₂ emission levels in the surtax scale is applied to vehicles specially equipped to run on E85 ethanol (flex-fuel vehicles) whose CO₂ emissions do not exceed 250 grams per kilometre.

C. TAX IN ADDITION TO THE REGISTRATION CERTIFICATE TAX

The most polluting private vehicles brought into service on or after 1 June 2004 are liable to a tax in addition to the registration certificate tax.

The so-called "CO₂ tax" applies to vehicles not covered by the surtax described above; in fact, it concerns new vehicles bought up to the date on which the surtax came into force and second-hand vehicles on change of ownership. It does not apply in addition to the surtax.

The tax applies to vehicles with EC type-approval that emit more than 200 grams of CO₂ per kilometre and vehicles without EC type-approval that have a fiscal horsepower rating of more than 10 (10 CV).

For the former, the tax is based on a three-band scale. The amount of the tax is determined by multiplying the number of grams of CO₂ emitted per kilometre by the rate per gram of the band to which the vehicle belongs.

For the latter, the rate of tax depends on the vehicle's fiscal horsepower rating.

The amount of the tax is reduced by 50% for vehicles specially equipped to run on E85 ethanol.

D. ANNUAL SURTAX

An annual flat-rate tax (taxe forfaitaire annuelle, also known as malus annuel) is payable by the owners of polluting private cars. This applies:

- to cars with EC type-approval that emit more than 245 gr CO₂/km (2011 value) when first brought into service;
- other cars with a fiscal horsepower rating of more than 16 (16 CV).

⁴¹ EC type-approval certifies that a type of vehicle, system or equipment meets the technical specifications contained in the relevant EC directives.

⁴² Vehicles that emit less than 110 grams of CO₂ per kilometre in 2011 are eligible for a "bonus".

The tax is payable on 1 January of the year of taxation and amounts to €160 per vehicle owned or leased.

Vehicles registered as "specialised motor vehicles" or disabled vehicles and vehicles registered by holders of an invalidity card (or by a person at least one of whose minor children or dependents in the same tax household holds an invalidity card) are exempt from the tax. Companies liable to the tax on company cars are also exempt.

E. TAX ON COMPANY CARS

This tax is payable on private cars owned or used by companies, wherever they are registered, including, under certain conditions, cars used by employees or senior managers for which the company pays mileage.

Private cars are vehicles registered as passenger cars and multi-purpose passenger cars which, whilst being registered as commercial vehicles, are used to transport passengers and their luggage or property.

For vehicles with EC type-approval first brought into service on or after 1 June 2004 that were not owned or used by the company before 1 January 2006, the tax is assessed according to the number of grams of CO₂ emitted per kilometre.

The annual tax is determined according to a seven-band scale. For each vehicle liable to the tax, the annual amount of tax corresponds to the rate per gram of the band to which the vehicle belongs multiplied by the number of grams of CO₂ emitted per kilometre.

For other vehicles, the rate depends on their fiscal horsepower rating.

Vehicles that use certain alternative energy sources (electricity, natural gas for vehicles, liquefied petroleum gas, E85 ethanol), exclusively or not, are entirely or partly exempt from the tax.

CHAPTER 3: WEALTH TAX

Wealth tax (impôt de solidarité sur la fortune, ISF) is an annual tax payable by individuals on account of their ownership of personal assets, the net value of which, assessed on 1 January of the year of taxation, exceeds a certain amount. It was introduced in 1989.

Article 1 of the first Supplementary Budget Act for 2011 made sweeping changes to the wealth tax by reducing its rate and streamlining certain taxpayers' obligations in terms of filing returns.

The wealth tax yielded €3.59 billion in 2009.

I – LIABLE PERSONS

The first Supplementary Budget Act for 2011 increases the liability threshold to wealth tax from €800,000 to €1,300,000 of net assets as from 2011.

Nevertheless, for 2011, taxpayers having assets of €1,300,000 or more are still liable to wealth tax on the basis of the former progressive scale by band, even for the band between €800,000 and €1,300,000 (See Section III below concerning the scale).

Persons domiciled in France are taxable on their assets in and outside France (taxation on "worldwide assets").

Persons not domiciled in France within the meaning of French domestic law are taxable only on their assets in France.

Persons who transfer their domicile to France are taxable, for the five years following their establishment in France, only on their assets in France, where they have not been domiciled in France for tax purposes during the five years prior to the transfer of their domicile.

The tax is assessed by household, which comprises spouses, cohabiting partners, partners of a PACS and minor children whose assets either of them legally administers.

II – TAX BASE

The tax base includes all assets, rights and values belonging to the taxable persons on 1 January of the year of taxation (developed and undeveloped land, sole proprietorships, farms, furniture, financial investments, cars, aircraft, pleasure craft, etc.).

However, some assets are fully or partly exempt. The main categories are business assets (sole proprietorships effectively managed by the taxpayer, participating interests of at least 25% in the company in which the taxpayer holds a senior managerial position), shares that the taxpayer has undertaken to keep, shares resulting from subscription of the capital of a small business, shares in certain venture-capital funds, literary and artistic copyrights held by the author, certain rural properties, antiques, artworks and collector's items.

Financial investments of persons not domiciled in France for tax purposes are specifically exempt from wealth tax. However, the following are taxable:

- shares in an unlisted company or legal entity whose assets predominantly consist of real property or real property rights situated on French territory, in proportion to the value of such assets in relation to the company's total assets;
- participating interests representing at least 10% of a company's capital;
- shares of which more than 50% are held directly or indirectly by legal entities or organisations that own real property or real property rights situated in France.

As a rule, taxable assets are valued according to the rules applicable to inheritance tax (in principle at market value). The value is assessed at 1 January of the year of taxation. 30% relief is applied to the real market value of the property which the taxpayer owns and occupies as his or her main home.

III. – TAX SCALE

The amount of tax is determined by applying a scale, updated each year, to the tax base.

The scale at 1 January 2011 is as follows:

Fraction of the net taxable value of the assets	Rate (%)
Up to €800,000	0
€800,000 - €1,310,000	0.55
€1,310,000 - €2,570,000	0.75
€2,570,000 - €4,040,000	1
€4,040,000 - €7,710,000	1.30
€7,710,000 - €16,790,000	1.65
Over €16,790,000	1.80

This scale will be replaced on 1 January 2012 by taxation at 0.25% for assets with net value of less than €3,000,000 and at 0.5% for assets worth this amount or more.

Net taxable value of the assets	Rate (%)
€1,300,000 or more but less than €3,000,000	0.25
€3,000,000 or more	0.50

A “smoothing” mechanism has been introduced for assets worth between €1,300,000 and €1,400,000 and those worth between €3,000,000 and €3,200,000 to mitigate the impact of changing bands.

Its formula is as follows:

Net taxable value of the assets	Tax reduction ⁽¹⁾
€1,300,000 and more but less than €1,400,000	€24,500 - (7 x 0.25% P)
€3,000,000 and more but less than €3,200,000	€120,000 - (7.5 x 0.5% P)

(1) P is the net taxable value of the assets

Wealth tax reductions exist for dependent family members and for certain investments or gifts made by taxpayers.

Wealth tax is collected on the basis of a tax return, accompanied by the corresponding payment which, for most taxpayers (i.e. those domiciled in France for tax purposes), must be filed with the relevant tax office at the latest by 15 June each year⁴³.

For 2011, the return and payment may be filed until 30 September 2011.

From 1 January 2012, taxpayers with assets worth between €1,300,000 and €3,000,000 will no longer have to file a specific wealth tax return (or its appendices) and will declare the net taxable value of their assets on their income tax return.

The tax will thus no longer be self-assessed and paid voluntarily but collected via the assessment role. The streamlining of filing obligations includes a dispensation from presenting supporting documents.

Taxpayers with assets worth €3,000,000 or more will continue to file a wealth tax return (together with supporting documents) and pay the tax voluntarily.

IV - CAPPING OF WEALTH TAX

For taxpayers domiciled in France for tax purposes, a capping arrangement limits the total amount of wealth tax and income tax in the previous year to 85% of their income. If this percentage is exceeded, the wealth tax is reduced by the corresponding amount. However, this reduction is limited for taxpayers whose personal assets exceed the upper limit of the third wealth tax band, i.e. €2,570,000 in 2011.

The wealth tax cap will be abolished on 1 January 2012.

⁴³ By 15 July at the latest for taxpayers domiciled in the Principality of Monaco or other European countries and by 31 August for taxpayers domiciled anywhere else.

CHAPTER 4: TAX ON THE MARKET VALUE OF REAL PROPERTIES OWNED IN FRANCE BY LEGAL ENTITIES (3% TAX)

French and foreign legal entities (corporate bodies, organisations, trusts and comparable institutions) which directly or indirectly own one or more real properties situated in France or hold real property rights relating to such properties are liable to a 3% annual tax on the market value of such properties or rights.

The tax is payable on real properties and real property rights owned on 1 January of the year of taxation.

However, the following legal entities may be exempted from the tax under certain conditions:

- international organisations, sovereign States and their political and territorial subdivisions;
- legal entities that are not deemed companies investing predominantly in real property;
- listed legal entities;
- legal entities established in the European Union or in a country or territory bound to France by an administrative assistance agreement with a view to combating tax fraud and evasion or in a country bound to France by a treaty under the terms of which they enjoy the same treatment as legal entities having their registered office in France.

These provisions apply to legal entities that make small investments in French property, organisations or other institutions that manage pension schemes, public interest organisations and institutions or organisations and institutions managed without personal gain, legal entities that invest in real-estate (real-estate collective investment schemes, known as OPCI and foreign entities subject to equivalent regulations) and those that inform or undertake to inform the tax authorities of the situation, composition and value of real properties owned at 1 January of each year, the identity and address of each shareholder or member and the number of shares or other rights held by each one and those that annually declare the above-mentioned information. The latter exemption may be comprehensive or granted partially according to the shareholders or members of which the legal entities are aware. Legal entities are nevertheless not required to declare shareholders or members that own less than 1% of their capital.

Legal entities liable to the 3% tax must file a return at the latest by 15 May of each year stating the place, composition and market value of taxable real properties and real property rights owned at 1 January of the year of taxation. The return must be accompanied by payment of the tax.

PART IV

LOCAL DIRECT TAXES

Local direct taxes are the oldest taxes in the French tax system. They succeeded the direct taxes that had been created in 1790 and 1791 as State taxes and were transferred to local authorities in the 1914-1917 tax reform.

Local taxes are collected by the State on behalf of local authorities (regions, départements, communes) and public establishments for intercommunal cooperation.

There are four main local taxes – property tax on developed land (taxe foncière sur les propriétés bâties, TFPB), property tax on undeveloped land (taxe foncière sur les propriétés non bâties, TFPNB) residence tax (taxe d'habitation, TH) and the local economic contribution (contribution économique territoriale, CET) as well as some additional or similar taxes.

The Budget Act for 2010 replaced the local business tax (taxe professionnelle, TP) with the local economic contribution comprising a business premises contribution (cotisation foncière des entreprises, CFE) and a contribution on business value added (cotisation sur la valeur ajoutée des entreprises, CVAE). This reform also profoundly altered the means of funding local authorities: new breakdown of local direct taxes, transfers of certain State taxes and the introduction of a flat-rate tax on network businesses (imposition forfaitaire sur les entreprises de réseaux, IFER).

The key feature of local taxes is that they are mainly assessed on a property's notional rental value (valeur locative cadastrale), except for the contribution on business value added and the flat-rate tax on network businesses. The notional rental value does not represent the rent under normal market conditions but a property's theoretical yield as determined by the authorities.

However, revising rental values uniquely for business premises was introduced by the Supplementary Budget Act for 2010. The new valuation system introduces a price-based method which involves applying a price which is representative of the local market to the premises weighted surface area to replace a valuation method involving comparison with standard premises. It will be widely implemented in 2012 and the results of the revision will be factored in to draw up the 2014 bases.

Local tax rates are set by local government assemblies (regional, departmental and municipal councils, etc.) when voting their annual budget according to the revenue that the various beneficiary authorities expect from the taxes that accrue to them. However, the rates may not exceed certain limits determined by central government, which are applied to bases also determined centrally.

There are many permanent or temporary exemptions.

The four main local direct taxes (property tax on developed land, property tax on undeveloped land, residence tax and the business premises contribution), not including the contribution on business value added and the flat-rate tax on network businesses, yielded €48.17 billion in 2010.

CHAPTER 1: PROPERTY TAX ON DEVELOPED LAND

Property tax on developed land (taxe foncière sur les propriétés bâties, TFPB) is levied annually on developed land situated in France except where there is entitlement to permanent exemption (public property, farm buildings, etc.) or temporary exemption (new or innovative enterprises, incentives for development as part of urban or spatial planning policy).

Taxable property includes permanent constructions perpetually attached to the ground such as premises intended to accommodate people (residential properties) or business assets (workshops, sheds), certain civil engineering structures and transport routes, land immediately necessary for such constructions, etc.

The tax base is the cadastral income, equal to 50% of the notional rental value regularly updated by the authorities.

The amount of tax is calculated by multiplying the tax base by the rates voted by each beneficiary local authority for the year in question.

The tax is payable by the owner of the property at 1 January of the year of taxation.

Exemption or automatic relief is granted to elderly or disabled people of modest means, under certain conditions of resources and cohabitation.

Article 31 of the first Supplementary Budget Act for 2011 introduces, as from taxes assessed for 2012, a cap of 50% of income for the property tax on developed land contribution relating to main homes. The purpose of the measure is to offset the abolition of the overall tax cap for less well-off households owning their main home.

Property tax on developed land yielded €23.70 billion in 2010.

CHAPTER 2: PROPERTY TAX ON UNDEVELOPED LAND

Property tax on undeveloped land (taxe foncière sur les propriétés non bâties, TFPNB) is levied annually on owners of any undeveloped land of any nature situated in France except where there is entitlement to permanent exemption (public property) or temporary exemption (incentives for organic farming, reforestation and the conservation of environmental interest zones).

The tax accrues to communes and their public establishments for intercommunal cooperation.

As with the property tax on developed land, the tax is payable by the owner of the land at 1 January of the year of taxation.

The basis for assessing the property tax on undeveloped land is 80% of the notional rental value of the property resulting from valuations regularly updated by the authorities.

The amount of tax is calculated by multiplying the cadastral income of each property by the rates voted by each beneficiary local authority for the year in question.

Property tax on undeveloped land yielded €900 million in 2010.

CHAPTER 3: RESIDENCE TAX

Sufficiently furnished residential premises and their dependencies (gardens, garages, private parking spaces) are liable to residence tax (taxe d'habitation, TH). The tax is payable by any person who, on 1 January of the year of taxation, has taxable premises at their disposal, whatever their status (owner, tenant, free occupier).

Since 2007, communes have also been able to levy residence tax on residential premises vacant for five years or more on 1 January of the year of taxation, provided that the annual tax on vacant residential premises does not apply on their territory. As from 2012, this measure will be extended to public establishments for intercommunal cooperation with powers of taxation provided they meet certain conditions.

Residence tax is assessed on the notional rental value of residential premises resulting from valuations of developed land updated by the authorities. For residential premises used as the taxpayer's main home, compulsory relief for dependents or optional relief (general relief on the base, special relief on the base, relief for disabled people) is deducted from the notional rental value.

The amount of tax is calculated by multiplying the income from the tax base by the rates voted by each beneficiary commune or public establishment for intercommunal cooperation for the year in question.

Certain premises are exempt from residence tax, either by nature or on a decision of the commune. Persons of modest means as defined by law may qualify for an exemption or for automatic relief on the amount of residence tax on their main home.

For taxpayers who do not qualify for exemption or automatic relief, the amount of residence tax on their main home is capped according to income under certain conditions.

Residence tax yielded €17.42 billion in 2010.

CHAPTER 4: LOCAL ECONOMIC CONTRIBUTION

The local business tax was abolished on 1 January 2010 and was replaced by a local economic contribution (contribution économique territoriale, CET) comprised of a business premises contribution based on the rental value of property and a contribution on business value added calculated on the basis of the value added generated by a business.

I. – BUSINESS PREMISES CONTRIBUTION

Individuals or legal entities, unincorporated companies or trustees, in respect of their activity governed by a trust agreement, carrying on a regular non-salaried business activity in France are liable to the business premises contribution (cotisation foncière des entreprises, CFE) every year.

All the local business tax exemptions were kept for the business premises contribution, except optional exemptions applying to infrastructure and movable property and those which have lapsed

Exemptions may be:

- automatic and permanent (essentially cultural, educational, health-related, social, sports-related or touristic activities carried on by the State, local authorities and public establishments, major seaports, low-rental housing organisations, agricultural activities and organisations, private schools, some craft or press activities, etc.);
- automatic and temporary (young lawyers, freelance entrepreneurs);
- optional (as they are granted by local authority decision or in the absence of a decision to the contrary) and permanent (furnished accommodation landlords, Municipal Credit Banks, live performances, cinemas, bookshops with the librairies indépendantes de référence label, etc.);
- optional and temporary (exemptions in respect of spatial planning, urban policy or as incentives for new businesses, created to take over a failing industrial company, which are innovative or in a cluster or to benefit SMEs based in Corsica). Subject to certain conditions, an allowance is applied to the business premises contribution tax base of businesses based in overseas départements.

The business premises contribution tax base is comprised of the rental value (less 30% for industrial plants) uniquely of property liable to property tax in France, excluding property exempt from property tax on developed land (machinery and other equipment used to operate industrial plants and the fixed assets used for photovoltaic electricity generation), which the taxpayer used, for business purposes, during the reference period. This does not include assets destroyed or disposed of during the same period. The reference period is usually the penultimate calendar year prior to the taxation year or the last twelve-month financial year closed during said year when this financial year does not correspond to the calendar year.

Tax base reductions and allowances which applied to the local business tax were kept to calculate the business premises contribution, except those relating to infrastructure and movable property or that provided for nuclear power plants⁴⁴ and the 16% general allowance on the base which is now included in the rates.

The business premises contribution is assessed in each commune where the taxpayer has premises or land. In principle, it is payable for the entire year by a taxpayer carrying on a taxable and non-exempt activity on 1 January on the basis of the tax components existing on the last day of the reference period, subject to a certain number of exceptions. For business creations, it is not owed for the first year and the tax bases are halved for the year after creation.

The business premises contribution is calculated by multiplying the tax base less reductions and allowances by the rates decided upon by the communes or their public establishments for intercommunal cooperation with powers of taxation⁴⁵.

The calculated amount may not be less than the minimum contribution determined from a base. The amount of this base is set by the municipal council or the public establishment for intercommunal cooperation, replacing the former. It must be between €200 and €2,000⁴⁶ for taxpayers with net turnover of less than €100,000 for the reference period and between €200 and €6,000⁴⁷ for other taxpayers.

II. – CONTRIBUTION ON BUSINESS VALUE ADDED

Individuals or legal entities, unincorporated companies and trustees, in respect of their activity governed by a trust agreement, carrying on an activity within the scope of application of the business premises contribution and whose turnover exceeds €152,500⁴⁸ are liable to the contribution on business value added (cotisation sur la valeur ajoutée des entreprises, CVAE). However, businesses which are automatically and entirely exempt from the business premises contribution are also entirely exempt from the contribution on business value added.

In concrete terms, only persons carrying on a regular non-salaried business activity and whose turnover is more than €500,000, excluding VAT, are liable to the contribution on business value added.

All businesses with turnover of more than €152,500 must file returns.

Like the business premises contribution, the contribution on business value added is owed by persons carrying on a business activity in France.

At the company's request, all exemptions and optional allowances under the business premises contribution apply to the contribution on business value added⁴⁹, subject to rules on decision-making by local authorities and public establishments for intercommunal cooperation.

Exemptions and allowances under the contribution on business value added are related to those for the business premises contribution and the former are therefore lost when the conditions for exemptions or allowances under the business premises contribution are no longer met.

The amount of the contribution on business value added represents a fraction of the value added generated by the business during the reference period.

⁴⁵ Only the "communal bodies" receive the business premises contribution, unlike the local business tax which was paid to all local authorities: "communal bodies", départements and regions.

⁴⁶ Amounts indexed to the price index.

⁴⁷ Amounts indexed to households' consumer price index, not including tobacco products.

⁴⁸ Companies with turnover of less than €500,000 have total relief from this contribution (see below).

⁴⁹ In respect of the allowance applicable in overseas départements, in order to calculate the contribution on business value added, the value added of establishments entitled to an allowance on their net tax base for the business premises contribution under Article 1466 F CGI is subject, if they so request, to an allowance at the same rate, up to €2,000,000 of value added.

In theory, the rate of the contribution on business value added is 1.5% of the value added but companies with turnover of less than €50 million may be granted relief, the amount of which varies according to the turnover. For practical reasons, the progressive and variable scale is applied directly according to the turnover recorded by the business when the instalments and balance are paid.

Therefore, in all cases, companies pay a contribution on business value added calculated on the basis of the effective tax rate.

Using the following scale, the percentage of value added actually taxed varies according to the amount of turnover:

If turnover excluding VAT is:	The effective tax rate is:
< €500,000	0%
€500,000 ≤ Turnover ≤ €3,000,000	$0.5\% \times (\text{Turnover} - €500,000) / €2,500,000$
€3,000,000 < Turnover ≤ €10,000,000	$0.5\% + 0.9\% \times (\text{Turnover} - €3,000,000) / €7,000,000$
€10,000,000 < Turnover ≤ €50,000,000	$1.4\% + 0.1\% \times (\text{Turnover} - €10,000,000) / €40,000,000$
> €50,000,000	1.5%

The amount of relief is increased by €1,000 for businesses with turnover of less than €2,000,000 and the contribution on business value added owed by companies with turnover of more than €500,000 may not be less than €250, the minimum contribution on business value added.

The contribution on business value added is calculated on the turnover recorded and value added generated during the reference period (the year for which the taxation applies).

Turnover and value added used in respect of the contribution on business value added are defined differently according to the company's business regime: ordinary law companies (those receiving non-commercial profits (BNC) and which use cash-based accounting and those receiving income from property), credit institutions and accredited investment companies, financial instrument management companies, companies formed to carry out a single financing transaction, insurance and reinsurance companies, mutual insurance companies and provident institutions.

Value added includes turnover plus or less items expressly provided for by Article 1586 sexies CGI.

For each regime, the nature of the revenue and expenses used to calculate turnover and value added factors in legal, economic and accounting considerations which are specific to each of the five business sectors concerned by these regimes.

For ordinary law companies, taxable value added may not be more than:

- 80% of turnover corresponding to taxable business activity for taxpayers having turnover of €7,600,000 or less;
- 85% of turnover corresponding to taxable business activity for taxpayers having turnover of more than €7,600,000

Taxpayers carrying on their business activity on 1 January of the tax year owe the contribution on business value added. In respect of restructuring operations carried out as from 22 October 2009, and provided certain conditions are met, the turnover of each liable company involved in the operation corresponds to the total turnover of the liable and non-liable companies involved in the restructuring operation.

For companies belonging to a group as stipulated in Article 223 A CGI, starting with taxation for 2011, the threshold and scale of the contribution on business value added for each company is evaluated using the turnover of all the group's member companies.

This consolidation does not apply when the total turnover of the members of the tax group is less than €7,630,000.

III. – RELIEF ON THE LOCAL ECONOMIC CONTRIBUTION

The local economic contribution is subject to several reduction measures, such as relief for curtailment of activity, relief relating to the ceiling based on the value added (plafonnement en fonction de la valeur ajoutée, PVA) generated by the company and temporary relief from the local economic contribution and ancillary taxes.

For the main relief, the PVA, the ceiling is set at 3% of value added regardless of the company's turnover and business sector. The amount of relief is equal to the difference between the amount of the local economic contribution owed for the tax year and 3% of the value added generated by the company. The value added used is that generated during the reference period for the contribution on business value added.

In addition, taxpayers whose taxes increased significantly in 2010 due to the reform of the local business tax are entitled to request sliding relief on the local economic contribution for 2010 to 2013.

This relief applies when the total of the contributions owed for 2010 for the local economic contribution, taxes for chambers of commerce and industry costs (taxes pour frais de chambre de commerce et d'industrie, TCCI) and taxes for chambers of trade and crafts costs (taxes pour frais de chambres de métiers et de l'artisanat, TCM) and the flat-rate tax on network businesses is €500 and 10% more than the total local business tax and ancillary taxes which would have been owed for 2010 under legislation in force on 31 December 2009.

This relief represents the difference between the local economic contribution, the TCCI, the TCM and the flat-rate tax on network businesses for 2010 on the one hand and the local business tax, TCCI and TCM, plus 10% which would have been owed for 2010 had there been no reform on the other hand, multiplied by 100% for 2010, 75% for 2011, 50% for 2012 and 25% for 2013.

CHAPTER 5: FLAT-RATE TAX ON NETWORK BUSINESSES

A flat-rate tax on network businesses (imposition forfaitaire sur les entreprises de réseaux, IFER) was introduced in 2010 for the benefit of local authorities⁵⁰ and the “Société du Grand Paris” public establishment.

Nine categories of assets are subject to the flat-rate tax on network businesses:

- wind and marine turbines;
- nuclear or fossil fuel-fired power plants;
- photovoltaic or hydraulic power generation facilities;
- electric transformers in public electricity transmission and distribution grids;
- radio stations;
- rolling stock used by the national rail network to transport passengers;
- rolling stock used by public transport lines in Ile-de-France. Revenue from this flat-rate tax on network businesses’ category is allocated to the “Société du Grand Paris” public establishment;
- the main distribution frames of the copper local loop and certain switching equipment;
- certain gas facilities and pipelines for natural gas and other fossil fuels.

The flat-rate tax on network businesses is owed regardless of the location of the taxpayer’s registered office.

Specific tax base and calculation rules and coding in the CGI apply to each asset category.

As an example, for nuclear or fossil fuel-fired power plants, the tax is set at €2,913 per megawatt of installed power, whereas the rolling stock used by the national rail network to transport passengers is taxed on a scale which changes according to its nature (i.e. a high-speed driving unit is taxed at €35,000 whilst a carriage for high-speed passenger transport is taxed at €10,000).

The flat-rate tax on network businesses, temporarily allocated to the State budget for 2010, yielded €1.4 billion for that year.

As from 2011, in consideration for the relief, write-off, assessment and collection costs assumed by the State, the latter will receive 2% and 1% of the total flat-rate tax on network businesses revenue respectively.

⁵⁰ For 2010, it was allocated to the State budget.

CHAPTER 6: OTHER LOCAL TAXES

I – ADDITIONAL TAXES

Communes that collect household waste may introduce a household waste collection tax (taxe d'enlèvement des ordures ménagères). Where responsibility for waste disposal has been transferred to a public establishment for intercommunal cooperation, it may levy a tax provided that it at least collects the waste. The tax is assessed on the cadastral income used as the base for property tax on developed land.

Household waste collection tax is payable on all properties belonging to individuals or legal entities liable to property tax on developed land or temporarily exempt from it.

Household waste collection tax yielded €5.69 billion in 2010.

There are also taxes for the costs of chambers of agriculture, commerce and industry and trade and crafts which accrue to them.

II – SPECIAL INFRASTRUCTURE TAXES

Special infrastructure taxes (taxes spéciales d'équipement) accrue to a public land bank or development agency. They are payable by all taxpayers (individuals or legal entities) liable to local taxes within a given area and are calculated on the same basis.

As from 2011, a special infrastructure tax is being introduced in favour of the “Société du Grand Paris” public establishment.

Special infrastructure taxes yielded €311 million in 2010.
